TOKYO 2020

FITNESS
The area where the team is arguably the best in the world is pure fitness. They can keep running all day, their yo-yo scores are out of this world, all thanks to modern training methodologies including in the field of nutrition

MENTAL RESILIENCE
The team has improved its ability to back themselves under pressure. On Thursday, they were two goals down but didn't panic and came back

SCORING FIELD GOALS
What they have added is a healthy habit of scoring field goals. Out of the five today, two came via this route; 40% of all Indian goals came this way

THE P R SREEJESH WALL
The custodian was brilliant as usual, with his crucial save with less than seven seconds remaining

STICK WIZARDS

INDRANEEL DAS @Chennai

ROMANCE. No word describes hockey better in this country. It gives Indians belief, teaches them to hope and instills in them the courage to dream, no matter how outrageous. It is our beautiful game and means to us, what football means to Brazil. Back when an entire country, freshly freed from colonial shackles, was still pondering what it meant to be Indian, the sticks of Dhyan Chand and Balbir Singh Sr had given us a sporting identity. It is an identity that has since defined us on the sport's greatest stage.

When the 18 men led by Manpreet Singh yelled and fell to their knees at the Oi Hockey Stadium in Tokyo, that noise reverberated across the country in unison. India had beaten Germany 5-4 in the bronze medal play-off. A medal, whatever colour it may be, has its own place in history.

This is a sport that has paid its dues many times over, through thousands of moments of anguish and heartbreak. A no-show in 2008 was followed by 12th in 2012 and eighth in Rio. Every edition, India would enter the Olympics with hopes of recapturing lost glory. They would return to India with the same message — we were not good enough. After every Summer Games, the memory of that eighth and final gold at Moscow in 1980 would fade more.

A majority of us were not born when India won its first gold in 1928. None of those who played on Thursday were born in 1980. All they had were stories. The legend of hockey was trapped in those sepia-tinged photographs. Generational players like Dhyan Chand, Balbir Singh (Sr and Jr), Roop Singh, Leslie Claudius, Mohammed Shahid and V Baskaran are names still uttered with reverence. The golden years faded into darkness. Hope morphed into despair.

But after 41 years, there is finally light and the romance has been rekindled. This medal is a bridge between the old and the new, between grass and astroturf. It was made possible by a fusion of raw talent and modern training. Even within the squad there is a healthy mix of experience and youth. If Rupinder Pal Singh and P R Sreejesh are the elder statesmen, Dilpreet Singh and Vivek Sagar Prasad are the young tyros. That eight of the 18 here took part and won in the junior World Cup reflect the depth of talent. They are now ready to define hockey through their prisms.

And just like hockey defined us in the early years when we were struggling to do so ourselves, it now symbolises the journey a rising nation is on. Its romance will once again seep deep into villages, chawls, dhabas, coffee shops — everywhere there's a shard of India's soul.

Every individual in this team would have silently endured unfathomable hardship to reach where they are. Systematic training, stability in Hockey India after years of disputes and training techniques and better support staff, all helped build the team. The pandemic brought misery with many players, including captain Manpreet Singh, infected. Months of lockdown and spending hours within their rooms, hardly speaking to anyone but their teammates and staying away from families and friends... they endured those challenges with aplomb.

The 18 players may not be remembered as legends. But when this fresh start ends in another emphatic golden moment, they will definitely be etched in the memory as the ones who sparked a revolution, the bunch who returned to Indian hockey its ability to dream.

Axe finally falls on much-hated retro tax

ANURADHA SHUKLA @ New Delhi

FINDING itself in a corner over tax litigations with Cairn Energy and Vodafone Plc, the Centre has decided to scrap the controversial retrospective tax demands. On Thursday, Finance Minister Nirmala Sitharaman introduced The Taxation Laws (Amendment) Bill, 2021 in the Lok Sabha.

The Bill seeks to withdraw all tax demands on capital gains made from indirect transfer of Indian assets prior to May 28, 2012. The Centre will refund such taxes it already collected but no interest will be paid.

This comes with a rider that the taxpayers will have to drop all pending litigations against the Centre and promise not to press claims for damages.

This is a major step, given that the government is locked in litigation with Vodafone and Cairn – with both getting favourable orders from an international arbitration court. The arbitration tribunal in The Hague awarded $1.2 billion (plus interest and cost) to Cairn. Total payable amount is $1.7 billion as of April 2021.

To recover this, Cairn Energy has filed cases in the US, the UK, Canada, Singapore, France and Netherlands to seize India's assets if New Delhi did not abide by the tribunal's decision. In early July, a French court allowed Cairn to freeze at least 20 Indian properties in Paris worth $20 million.

Terming the retrospective law a 'sore point' that was putting off potential investors, the government stated, "The country today stands at a juncture when quick recovery of the economy after the Covid-19 pandemic is the need of the hour and foreign investment has an important role to play in promoting faster economic growth and employment."

Vodafone was not immediately available for comments, while Cairn Energy said in a London Stock Exchange filing that it is monitoring the situation and would provide further update in due course.

The move will mean that the Indian government will have to refund around ₹8,000 crore collected as retro tax thus far. Of this, ₹7,000 crore will have to be paid to Cairn India alone. However, Supreme Court lawyer Arvind Datar, who has represented Cairn Energy in the retrospective tax dispute case, said he does not know if Cairn would agree to the conditions laid down for settlement.

The controversial bill was introduced in 2012 by then finance minister Pranab Mukherjee.

P17

WHAT'S RETRO TAX?

In 2012, Indian government under then finance minister Pranab Mukherjee retrospectively amended Income-tax Act to raise tax demands on income from sale or transfer of an asset situated in India, even if the transaction takes place outside the country

The amendment was to bypass an adverse Supreme Court ruling that prevented the I-T department's move to levy capital gains on an overseas share sale transaction involving Vodafone Plc

SIZING IT UP

Govt had sent notices to 17 firms to cough up ₹1.10 lakh cr in back taxes

Vodafone got a tax demand of ₹22,100 cr plus interest

Cairn Energy was told to pay a total of ₹20,495 cr

GIVE & TAKE

- Govt will return all retro tax it collected thus far without interest
- Companies will have to withdraw all the cases they have filed against the govt over retro tax
- Firms will also have to forego the interest on amounts collected by the govt

Illegal surveillance is serious, says SC, gives Centre time to respond

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ New Delhi

TERMING the allegations of Pegasus snoopgate as serious if media reports are true, the Supreme Court on Thursday asked the petitioners to let the Centre respond before they proceed further. The court while slating the matter for further hearing on August 10 asked the petitioners to serve copies of their petitions to the Centre.

A bench headed by Chief Justice of India N V Ramana said, "The matter has got complicated with too many petitions. Some have challenged the vires of the Information Technology law also. Let someone appear on behalf of the Centre and then we will see." It was hearing a batch of nine petitions demanding an independent inquiry into snooping.

During the hearing, the bench kept on asking lawyers whether their clients had availed of any legal remedy such as registration of an FIR on learning their phones were hacked. The court said all writ petitions, except that filed by the Editor's Guild of India, were based on newspaper reports. No other relevant document was annexed. "The petitioners are highly resourceful. They have international access. They should have done more focussed effort or hard work to bring more material on record," the bench observed.

Wondering why the petitioners did not raise the matter two years ago when Pegasus snooping was first outed, it said, "We are not finding fault with the delayed approach. But we want to know if any serious effort was made then on the issue."

At this, senior advocate Kapil Sibal, appearing for N Ram responded, "The extent of surveillance was not known to us. Today morning we found out that the numbers of even registrars of this court are on the snooping list. Their phones were accessed. Some members of the judiciary have also been named."

K'taka must get all on board for Mekedatu: Shekhawat

ANUSHA RAVI @ Bengaluru

IN what could dent the Karnataka Government's confidence regarding the Mekedatu balancing reservoir project, Union Jal Shakti Minister Gajendra Singh Shekhawat has said that the project cannot progress without the consent of all riparian states.

Responding to a question raised by JDS' lone MP in the Lok Sabha, Prajwal Revanna, Shekhawat said that Karnataka's Detailed Project Report (DPR) for the project cannot be considered for further assessment until it gets clearance from the Cauvery Water Management Authority (CWMA). The Union Minister's response comes as a setback to Karnataka, especially at a time when Chief Minister Basavaraj Bommai has termed the protests against the project in Tamil Nadu - even by his own party colleagues - as 'politically motivated'.

The JDS MP sought to know why Karnataka needed Tamil Nadu's permission to go ahead with the project since no such clause was mentioned in the Cauvery Tribunal's orders. Shekhawat, who had visited Karnataka earlier this month, had said the project will need the consent of all stakeholders.

"When Karnataka submitted the PFR (Pre-feasibility report) for Mekedatu dam, it was given conditional permission to go ahead with the DPR. The very first condition was that the DPR should have CWMA permission. Since the project is proposed along an inter-state river basin, the Interstate River Water Disputes Act mandates permission from all lower riparian states and stakeholders. It is not possible to consider the Mekedatu DPR for further assessment without CWMA permission," Shekhawat told Parliament.

He added that the project hasn't received environmental clearance as well, since his department hasn't received any related files. "Even if Karnataka assumes environmental clearance as 'deemed', it will still need CWMA approval," Shekhawat said.

Portfolio allocation today, all eyes on Delhi

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

TWO days after 29 ministers were inducted into CM Basavaraj Bommai's cabinet, portfolio allocation will take place on Friday. The CM said that he will complete the process of ministry allocation on August 6. Although Bommai had claimed earlier that portfolio allocation will be his prerogative, all eyes are on the BJP's central leadership which is set to have its imprint on the exercise.

"Allocation of portfolios will be completed tomorrow," Bommai told reporters on Thursday when asked about the matter. With six new faces and 23 retainees from the BS Yediyurappa Cabinet, Bommai and the BJP have a Herculean task to divide heavyweight portfolios among seniors and party loyalists without irking the 'new-comer ministers'. While senior-most ministers like Govind Karjol and KS Eshwarappa are looking to retain their former departments or trade up for bigger ministries, the party's central leadership, nudged by the RSS, is also insisting that core cadre members should be given heavyweight ministries.

AFTER an Olympic medal drought of 41 years, the India men's team finally won bronze, defeating Germany 5-4 in a thrilling hockey clash in Tokyo on Thursday.

The team's performance can be attributed to the long hours of detailed planning, dedication and rigorous training sessions over the last few years at the Sports Authority of India (SAI) South Centre in Bengaluru.

The SAI Bengaluru centre is the second home for both the men and women players of the national teams. They spend most of their time on the campus, which helps them form a special bond as well.

"Apart from the wonderful weather in Bengaluru, which is a huge boon for the teams, the SAI campus also has brilliant facilities to help players recover from injuries and strenuous tours. The campus also has an exclusive upgraded gym for the hockey teams and a wonderful medical centre to help the players deal with any kind of injury or illness," Hockey India CEO Elena Norman said, explaining why the camps are regularly held here.

Covid checking of Kerala, Maha rly passengers lax

Not all travellers asked for negative report at KSR station

S LALITHA @Bengaluru

EVEN though the state government made it mandatory for passengers from Kerala and Maharashtra to carry a Covid-negative report, there is a lack of rigorous inspection at the KSR railway station regarding the same.

At least 2,000 passengers reach the KSR station daily in the four special trains that arrive from Kerala and Maharashtra.

The health teams led by Medical Officer, Health, BBMP, Dr B Y Nanda, is deputed to carry out checks and conduct tests at the station. A ten-member Government Railway Police team has been provided as support staff since Thursday. All this activity is confined to the concourse area of the station or at its entrance.

A top railway official present at the spot said, "Contrary to the kind of checks that were done during the first wave of Covid, with the Railway staff, the GRP, the Railway Protection Force and the BBMP present at the platform to check every passenger, there is a relaxed approach now." Many passengers are not stopped to check for their Covid-negative certificate, he claimed. "There seems to be no compulsion to subject everyone to checks. As a Bengaluru resident, I am extremely concerned about this approach," he added.

Dr Nanda said that a total of 115 RT-PCR tests have been conducted on Thursday. "There is no need to test passengers who carry a negative certificate," he said. When asked if the number appeared very low compared to the large number of passengers coming from the two states, the doctor said, "We plan to increase the number of tests also."

A railway source said, "There was a lockdown in force with only migrant special trains running during the first wave and the RPF was able to provide us with enough personnel. With many trains operating currently, neither they nor the Railways will be able to spare staff." BBMP chief commissioner Gaurav Gupta said there was no mandate that every passenger needs to be checked. "There are many teams carrying out checks at the railway stations. The whole idea is to create an awareness among passengers to travel to Karnataka only when they are Covid-negative," he said.

A senior railway official in the Bengaluru division said it was up to the railway staff at Kerala and Maharashtra to check passengers when they board the trains at their stations. "We have alerted them about the state government orders. We are responsible only for passengers boarding within our jurisdiction which is at Salem in Tamil Nadu and our TTEs on board check them," he said.

Fifteen teams formed to enhance vigil at public places

ENS @Bengaluru

DUE to the rising cases in neighbouring states and Bengaluru, 15 teams have been formed and deployed at busy market places and points to keep a check on travellers and citizens, said BBMP Chief Commissioner Gaurav Gupta.

"Strict checking will be done for those coming from Maharashtra and Kerala to ensure they are carrying negative RT- PCR test report and if they are showing any symptoms. Even though the cases are less, we need to be careful." He added that while the government is taking all measures to control the spread, citizens must also play their role in the process by following norms. "Whether the cases increase or not, we all should do our bit as the virus still exists," Gupta said.

On the question of whether it is the end of the second wave and the onset of the third wave, he said that is for experts to decide and announce. "Sero-survey is being conducted to know the level of antibodies in people and prepare the future action plans," he added

Speaking to the media, he added that the police, marshals and Home Guards have tightened their vigil and aggressive legal steps will be taken against those who don't adhere to the rules. "Night curfew will continue to remain in force. No relaxations were announced by the government. Hence, all those violating the timings will be dealt with sternly. The government is discussing with experts if more stringent measures are required and if the weekend curfew needs to be enforced again," he said.

Saving Vrishabhavathi: Survey of properties along valley begins

BOSKY KHANNA @Bengaluru

WITH the rising environmental concerns and a number of cases being filed in the High Court over the pollution levels in Vrishabhavathi valley, the revenue department and officials from the Bengaluru district commissioner's office have started the survey of all the properties along the valley.

Officials from DC's office said the survey is divided into two parts — north and south, 25 km each. "Every property is being assessed, mapped and geo-tagged. Then, every property is being verified with the existing records of revenue department and the base maps with the office of Survey and Settlement, to check the deviations and encroachments. After this, the final report will be prepared. The report will be shared with the government and the High Court. The target is to complete the exercise in 15 days," the official said.

For calculation, the officials have divided the valley into blocks, where each block comprises of 1-1.5km. The entire drain network is being mapped with all the water inlet and outlet points. The number of sewage treatment plants, industries, commercial units, colonies and individual homes along the valley are being documented, officials said.

Vrishabhavathi river

Also, Karnataka State Pollution Control Board (KSPCB) officials have told the government that they need at least ₹7,000- Rs 8,000 crore to improve and divert the underground drainage network.

"We know that citizens are not the only ones at fault, government agencies like BWSSB, BBMP, BDA, revenue and even we are to be blamed. Hence, to improve it, the entire network has to be cleaned up and it is a huge investment cost. But there is no guarantee that it will be maintained, hence the survey is being done so that the encroachments are cleared," a senior KSPCB official said.

All people of goodwill can take advantage of favourable circumstances. This really is a rather special time astrologically for all twelve signs, not just for you. You are well-placed in many ways because you will be helped on your way by the rest of us. Lucky old you!

TAURUS
(Apr. 21 - May 21)
The pressure is on at work and at home, not for the first time, and not for the last. To look at your long-term trends it now seems clear that personal change will move faster than professional. And, to that extent, you might well soon decide that it's time to move on.

GEMINI
(May 22 - June 21)
You seem to be slightly isolated, but I don't think that's a bad thing. After all, it's the world that's out of step, not you. Others may be leaving you behind, but that's their problem: as they rush through life, they'll miss a great many of the opportunities you pick up.

CANCER
(June 22 - July 23)
Foreign connections, overseas contacts, legal questions and educational considerations, should now be almost settled, but not quite. You may like to wait and see what the next few days bring before reaching a final verdict. Perhaps what seems like a great idea today will look a little doubtful tomorrow.

Long-term planetary cycles are now at a critical point, one which will be repeated in exactly two months' time. You may plan ahead in the knowledge that you have no less than six months to establish the pattern of your affairs for a long time to come.

VIRGO

There are still some very strong words to be spoken concerning the nature of your current commitments, and there may not be much point in expecting everyone to agree. But then, why should they? It's good to hear a variety of opinions, and the end-results can only be good.

LIBRA
(Sept. 24 - Oct. 23)
You may feel you're not having your share of fun, but don't bemoan your fate. It may seem paradoxical, but you're now entering a period of three years during which you will have to work hard to enjoy yourself. I'll explain what I mean by this over the coming months.

SCORPIO
(Oct. 24 - Nov. 22)
You may wish to take a risk at work, or in any treasured ambition. Make the most of your very special individual talents and don't be cowed by authority or tradition. Also, in relationships, give romance a high priority. By that I mean that you should aim for the best.

SAGITTARIUS
(Nov. 23 - Dec. 22)
The time has come to decide where you are going - literally. You may be tempted by the prospect of living or working in foreign parts, far from home. Whether this is realistic or not is quite another matter, but you can always work to make it happen.

CAPRICORN
(Dec. 23 - Jan. 20)
It is said that the best business people are born under your sign, in which case the moment of truth has now arrived. According to your long-term cycles, you are now in a phase of private austerity and public extravagance. I think you'll have to exceed your budget before long!

AQUARIUS
(Jan. 21 - Feb. 19)
A whole new world is opening up. Right now you may be too bemused by daily concerns, such as cash, or the lack of it, to see what is really happening. It may even be the end of next month before it all becomes blindingly obvious. Until then, carry on as normal!

PISCES
(Feb. 20 - Mar 20)
If you are caught up in a web of intrigue, the cause probably lies in your own reluctance ever to say 'no'. One thing you can be sure of now is that you have a chance to improve family relationships. If you regret a past action, take the lead and say you're sorry.

Long Covid a real challenge, awareness needed

Doctors second WHO concern, say effects are many and government must be prepared to tackle situation

CHETANA BELAGERE @ Bengaluru

MANY of those who were infected with Covid-19 are still battling 'Long Covid' symptoms, and many have even lost their lives. The World Health Organisation (WHO) in a press conference on Thursday, expressed concern and urged countries to be prepared, besides urging people struggling with long-term effects of the virus to seek medical help.

"This post-Covid syndrome, or Long Covid, is something WHO is deeply concerned about," Maria Van Kerkhove, the UN health agency's Covid-19 technical lead, said in a press conference.

The WHO was "making sure that we have recognition of this, because this is real".

ICMR, the national health body, is also working on a case definition to better understand and describe the post-Covid syndrome. Little is known about why some people, after coming through the acute phase, struggle to recover and suffer ongoing symptoms, including shortness of breath, extreme fatigue and brain fog, as well as cardiac and neurological disorders.

Interestingly, a recent study said there are more than 200 reported symptoms post Covid. "The spectrum of symptoms range from fatigue, cough, headache, brain fog, skin disorders, renal, liver and heart involvement etc. To predict who may develop them and to what extent is difficult. The main challenge lies in identifying it by ruling out other multiple illnesses with similar presentations, and giving supportive treatment," Dr Pruthu Narendra Dhekane, Consultant - Infectious Diseases, Fortis Hospitals, Bannerghatta Road, said.

After a lull in Covid cases, there is a belief that black fungus cases have reduced and Long Covid symptoms are not recurring, but that's not true, says Dr Satyanarayana Mysore, senior pulmonologist, Manipal Hospitals.

Expressing concern on the neurological impact, Dr Sreekanta Swamy, Head of Neurology, Aster RV Hospital said, "We are seeing recovered people with various nervous system related symptoms. Common symptoms are fatigue, muscular pain and weakness, dizziness, headache, lack of concentration, memory impairment and sleep disturbance," he said.

Emphasising the need for the government to consider preparedness and awareness among the public, Dr Brunda MS, Consultant - Internal Medicine, Aster CMI Hospital, said, "Each phase is characterised by a change, of which some is unpredictable. The government should review and update health regulations."

Expert panel suggests measures to curb spread in third wave

RANJANI MADHAVAN @ BENGALURU

THE expert committee of the Private Hospitals and Nursing Homes Association (PHNHA) that represents 1,000 hospitals in Karnataka, has prepared a report on measures to curb the spread of the third wave of Covid-19 before it begins in the state.

The report, which is yet to be submitted to the government, includes PHNHA's three broad recommendations which emphasises vaccine advocacy, research-linked data documentation, and effective training of healthcare workers.

Under data documentation, the committee chaired by Dr Hema Divakar, consultant ObGyn and Medical Director Divakar's Speciality Hospital, suggested a common template and colour-coded document for the Covid-19 casesheet to be used by all private hospitals.

"This will help disseminate Covid-19 case-related information accurately and speedily through physical as well as electronic transfer to state nodal centres. Early detection of the rise in infections and acting early is the only way to suppress the next wave before it begins. We need to put in place systems to accurately record key indicators such as cases, hospitalisations, mortality, infection rate, R0 (the number of new infections generated by each case), and seroprevalence in a timely manner," the report stated.

Emphasising the role of vaccines, PHANA pointed out that private hospitals must follow the 'hub and spoke model' to conduct vaccination drives across cities and towns. This model was followed during the first phase of the vaccination drive and the outcomes were effective. While specific hospitals were appointed as vaccination centres, nearby hospitals would undertake advocacy.

According to the committee, all hospitals will address vaccine hesitancy with the same voice. In addition, the corporate sector and industries in conjunction with the designated vaccination centres (hospitals), must conduct large-scale drives.

"The third recommendation is imparting training to all healthcare workers in the latest practices and guidelines for care. To relieve pressure on hospitals in advance, PHANA will focus on developing and communicating Covid-19 clinical and home-based care guidelines in collaboration with trusted medical institutions for treatments that are of assured quality, safety, efficacy and cost-effective," the report added.

The expert committee's action plan includes linking PHANA's 'Search My Bed' portal to BBMP's bed portal for coordination, uploading status of normal and pediatric beds, post-vaccine admissions, death reports and test reports, which are to be sent from the lab.

Check if corona patients have insurance: HC to govt

ENS @ Bengaluru

THE Karnataka High Court asked the State government on Thursday to devise a method to check whether Covid patients admitted to government quota beds reserved at private hospitals, are covered by health insurance.

A division bench of Chief Justice Abhay Shreeniwas Oka and Justice NS Sanjay Gowda said that such a method can help the state prepare a plan to combat the possible third wave.

The court passed the order while disposing off the PIL filed by S Gowrishankar, who had pointed out that it is a burden on the state's exchequer if the treatment cost of Covid patients, who have health insurance either through Suvarna Aarogya Trust or through employer, is borne by the government.

The petitioner contended that the Covid patients, who are beneficiaries of insurance scheme, cannot take advantage of the 50 per cent of beds at private hospitals. Therefore, it should be ascertained whether the patient before admission.

A BALANCED CABINET: SRINIVASA PRASAD

BJP MP V Srinivasa Prasad said that Basavaraj Bommai has picked the most balanced cabinet in recent times. "The party has done its best in getting the social engineering right by inducting MLAs from all sections of society. The cabinet is a balanced one," he told reporters in Mysuru

Bommai, Annamalai lock horns over Mekedatu

No compromise, says CM as TN BJP president holds one-day hunger strike against project; face-off puts BJP in sticky spot

ANUSHA RAVI @ Bengaluru

ON a day Tamil Nadu BJP president K Annamalai led a one-day fast against the Mekedatu project, Karnataka Chief Minister Basavaraj Bommai called all protests "politically motivated".

The tug-of-war between the BJP Tamil Nadu chief and BJP government head in Karnataka has put the party in a tough spot over the ambitious drinking water project.

"There won't be any compromise on Mekedatu. It is being misused for politicking in Tamil Nadu. Whichever the party, Mekedatu is used to play politics. Everybody knows the project is for drinking water, hydroelectricity and sharing during times of distress. I am confident the detailed project report will get necessary clearances. We will start work as soon as that is done. All protests are politically motivated and we won't take them seriously," Bommai told the media on Thursday morning.

Speaking to TNIE, Annamalai, a former IPS officer from Karnataka cadre, said that while he won't comment on Bommai's remark, the entire Tamil Nadu unit of the party was with him on the matter. "We are very clear on our stand. It is not contradictory. It is not a dictatorship. These are two parties and two different states... as BJP Tamil Nadu we are fighting for our farmers. Would you say the Union Minister's statement in Parliament on Mekedaatu was contradictory? He went by the law and made the statement. As CM of Karnataka, Mr Bommai has the privilege to say what he wants. But as a policy, I will not react to individual remarks," Annamalai said.

The war of words between the BJP government in Karnataka and Tamil Nadu unit of the party has put the BJP in a precarious position. "As a party, people's welfare is our priority. We want a win-win situation for both states. We have to arrive at a middle point. It should neither be viewed as a political matter nor as an emotional issue. It has to be practical. Mekedatu hopes to provide drinking water to Bengaluru and people from across the country – even Tamilians -- living in Bengaluru. Karnataka should not make it an aggressive and emotional issue, and Tamil Nadu should not make it a political and emotional issue," said CT Ravi, BJP National General Secretary incharge of Tamil Nadu, and MLA from Chikkamagaluru.

Mahesh's entry gives boost to BJP in Ch'nagar

ENS@ Bengaluru

FORMER BSP MLA N Mahesh on Thursday formally joined the BJP. Along with him, about 150 BSP workers and supporters from Chamarajnagar, Mysuru, Kodagu, Hassan, Chikkamagalur, Mandya, Ramanagara, Bengaluru Urban and Bengaluru Rural districts also joined the ruling party.

Political analysts feel that Mahesh's entry could give the BJP a boost in Chamarajanagar district, where the party already has an MP. The first big test for Mahesh will be the zilla and taluk panchayat polls.

Mahesh said many of his supporters who joined BJP include City Municipal Corporation members, Taluk and Gram Panchayat Members. He was expelled from the BSP in July 2019 as he was not present in the House to vote for the Congress-JDS coalition government.

Although he is not being inducted into the ministry, his supporters are confident that he will soon be rewarded, considering there are four vacancies and also because Chamarajanagar district is not represented in the cabinet. But Mahesh told TNIE that he did not bargain for a ministry before joining.

BJP, Cong spar over ED raid on Zameer

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

AS the Opposition Congress termed the Enforcement Directorate (ED) raid on party legislator Zameer Ahmed Khan as politically motivated, Chief Minister Basavaraj Bommai defended the central agency.

"I am neither an ED nor an Income Tax officer to answer all this. Congress leaders have become experts in IT and ED and they have a lot of experience. Those involved in illegal activities will be raided. Can houses of everyone be raided?" the CM said responding to the Congress' allegation that the central agencies were being used to target only Opposition leaders.

Calling ED/IT raids politically motivated has become the Congress' mantra to cover up their misdeeds, the chief minister said.

ED officials on Thursday conducted raids on former minister and Congress MLA Zameer Ahmed Khan in the IMA scam.

KPCC president DK Shivakumar, former chief minister Siddaramaiah and other Congress leaders said the raids were politically motivated. "There was no need for raids as he had responded to the ED's notice in the IMA case. Zameer is capable of facing it legally," Shivakumar said and accused the government of having different yardsticks for Congress and BJP leaders.

Siddaramaiah accused the government of misusing central agencies to intimidate Opposition leaders. "I strongly condemn this undemocratic act of BJP to use institutions like ED and IT," Siddaramaiah charged.

Congress MP DK Suresh asked why ED officials from Delhi conducted the raids when they have an office in Bengaluru. "This is political vendetta and we have seen it from close quarters," said Suresh, Shivakumar's brother and Bengaluru Rural MP.

CABINET TALK

K SHIVA KUMAR @ Mysuru

WHILE the cabinet formation exercise has ostensibly left many seniors and hopefuls fuming, the regional and caste balance in the cabinet has also failed to reflect BJP national president J P Nadda's mission for Old Mysuru region, which was chalked out during his visit to the state.

The BJP top brass is well aware that it does not have much of a foothold in the Old Mysuru region, which comprises about 100 Assembly constituencies, and had chalked out plans to improve its standing in the Congress and JD(S) stronghold. Yet, the Bommai Cabinet has no representation right from Kolar to Chikkamagaluru in the region. Though the party did not do well in the Assembly polls in the southern districts, it sprang a surprise in the Lok Sabha elections, winning Kolar and Chamarajanagar seats, considered Congress bastions.

The party went the extra mile to woo many from the JDS in Mandya and surrounding regions to widen its base. MLA Narayana Gowda, who defected from the JDS, created history in K R Pet winning on a BJP ticket in the Vokkaliga turf. The party also brought in C P Yogeshwar and got him elected to the Upper House with the aim of building the party in Ramanagara district, the home turf of KPCC chief D K Shiva Kumar and Assembly seat of former CM H D Kumaraswamy.

But there was major disappointment on Wednesday for frontrunners S A Ramdass from Mysuru, Preetham Gowda from Hassan, M P Kumaraswamy from Mudigere, Harshavardhan from Nanjangud, MLC C P Yogeshwara from Ramanagara districts. Gundlupet MLA Nirajan Kumar and Chamaraja MLA L Nagendra also had their hopes pinned on the party preferring younger faces.

The BJP has been unable to find new Vokkaliga leaders or induct an MLA from the SC-Right community, which has a sizeable population in the Old Mysuru region. The only solace is that BJP MLA Narayana Gowda from K R Pet in Mandya district has been reinducted as minister along with other defectors. Although the Kuruba community has got three ministerial berths, it may not benefit the party much, as the community has strongly aligned itself with former Chief Minister Siddaramaiah, who has successfully stitched together a coalition of microscopic backward communities, SCs, STs and minorities under the AHINDA banner.

As the party prepares for the Legislative Council from the South Graduates constituency, and the Zilla and Taluk panchayat polls in December, a senior party leader, who did not want to be named, questioned, "How can we boost the morale of the cadres and drum up support for the panchayat polls when we have no local minister?" This could also prompt many to rethink about contesting the panchayat elections, he felt.

Nationalist from BJP will become CM in 2023: KSE

Mysuru: Senior BJP leader K S Eshwarappa on Thursday said the party will get full majority in the 2023 Assembly polls and a nationalist will be made the CM. Speaking to reporters here, he said there are chances of a member of the Schedule Caste or Backward Classes becoming the next CM. Hitting out at Congress leader Siddaramaiah for his comments on the recent Cabinet expansion, the senior MLA compared him to a power-hungry mouse. Siddaramaiah had tweeted saying that the outcome of the new cabinet reminded him of "a roaring lion giving birth to a mouse." ENS

Raw deal for Belagavi, says Satish Jarkiholi

Belagavi: KPCC working president Satish Jarkiholi said that the BJP has given a raw deal to Belagavi in the recent Cabinet expansion. He said that Bommai should have made more BJP legislators from the district as ministers as Belagavi is home to 18 Assembly constituencies. The government should allocate Cabinet berths to districts based on the number of MLAs each district sends to the Assembly, he said. ENS

Growing bond: Bommai cabinet makes concessions for Gowda's JDS

BANSY KALAPPA @ Bengaluru

DOES the Basavaraj Bommai cabinet have a Deve Gowda touch? The overall constitution of Vokkaligas in the ministry could be a pointer to a tactical understanding between the BJP and JDS.

While seven Vokkaligas have been included in the cabinet, the legislators who could be a thorn in the JDS flesh have been excluded. Hassan MLA Preetham Gowda, the lone BJP legislator in a territory fiercely guarded by the JDS – which has a say in political positions here -- has been left out. Preetham Gowda was recognised for his role in the recent Sira and KR Pet bypolls. There are more such examples: MLC CP Yogeeshwara, who was breathing fire against the JDS in its stronghold Ramanagara, has been excluded. Kuruba leader MTB Nagaraj has been given charge of Bangalore Rural, a Vokkaliga bastion. In Mysuru and other Vokkaliga-dominated districts, there is an obvious attempt not to encourage leaders from this denomination and upset the JDS, a largely Vokkaliga party.

That the BJP does not want to antagonise the JDS for now is obvious – there have been back-channel talks as well as public meetings between leaders of the two parties, with JDS patriarch H D Deve Gowda in focus. JDS leader MLA Bandeppa Kashempur and MP Prajwal Revanna were with BJP leaders for four days in New Delhi, when the change of leadership was in progress. Chief Minister Basavaraj Bommai called Gowda after he returned from Delhi a few days ago, and more recently, Gowda visited Union minister Nitin Gadkari just a day before the cabinet formation.

The Vokkaliga turf has been the BJP's biggest weakness: In 2008, the party won 110 seats, and in 2018, it won 104 seats, but could not break into this region. Even when the Modi wave was raging in 2019, the BJP could not win the Vokkaliga strongholds of Mandya, Hassan and Bangalore Rural, and is still treading cautiously here. As political analyst B S Murthy put it, "In its larger interest, the BJP has decided to ensure the JDS retains its base, so that the Congress can be kept in check.''

Manjunatha Prasad is CM's new principal secy

ENS @ Bengaluru

A day after 29 ministers were inducted into the cabinet, the government effected a minor reshuffle of senior IAS officers. N Manjunath Prasad who served as Bruhat Bengaluru Mahanagara Palike (BBMP) commissioner and has hands-on experience in Bengaluru development and the Revenue department, has been posted as the CM's principal secretary in place of senior IAS officer E V Ramana Reddy.

The transfer has come after senior IAS officer Ponnuraj was posted as Secretary to the CM, replacing Selvaraj who served as former CM B S Yediyurappa's secretary. Prasad will also hold concurrent charge of Principal Secretary, Department of Information and Public Relations with immediate effect. Ramana Reddy, who was serving as Additional Chief Secretary to CM, has been posted as Additional Chief Secretary, Department of Industries and Commerce, and will hold concurrent charge of Additional Chief Secretary, Department of IT and BT. Rajkumar Khatri, who was Additional Chief Secretary, Department of Industries and Commerce, has been transferred as Additional Chief Secretary, Department of Agriculture.

Additional Chief Secretary, Department of Health and Family Welfare, Jawaid Akthar, has been given additional charge as Additional Chief Secretary, Department of Forests, Ecology and Environment. Tushar Girinath, Principal Secretary, Cooperation Department, has been posted as Principal Secretary, Revenue Department, as well as Principal Secretary, Disaster Management.

HOUR OF HOCKEY

India rises again, it's time to reach for gold, nurture young talent

G SUBHASH CHANDRA
@ Chitradurga

A resurgent India has shown the world that the fire is still alive, and Thursday's 5-4 victory over a strong German side is much to cheer about. In fact, the Tokyo Olympics win is reminiscent of the 1980 Moscow Olympics, when India brought home the gold in hockey.

Former India captain and lone Karnataka player of the winning team, MM Somaiah, said the game at Tokyo reminded him of the day they had played Spain in the finals, and a timely turn by his teammates helped the team scoop up a victory. "The present team, which was 1-3 down, fought back well against Germany and equalled the score 3-3 by half-time, and finally won 5-4. The bronze medal has given a new lease of life for Indian hockey and the team should start strengthening its game now on, so that we go back to the golden era," he added.

The country's national sport, which was in a slump for some time, is back in the forefront and needs government support to surge ahead, Somaiah added. India's bronze medal effort has come in for praise by many former internationals, who felt the players showed the grit they did in the Moscow Olympics finals; July 29, 1980 is a red-letter day for India.

The lanky right-half from Kodagu said the present team is mentally tough and doesn't fear beating teams with higher rankings. "Though down 1-3, the Indians bounced back as the final whistle was blown. The entire team played a cohesive game and as a single unit. We are emotionally charged by the way our boys fought back," he said.

Timely intervention by coach Graham Reid and the technical bench also helped the team excel in all aspects of the games, said Somaiah. He said that players at all levels need more exposure, and the academies at Punjab, Haryana, Odisha and Manipur should be replicated in every corner of the country, to tap and train the best hockey talents.

On the need to support hockey in Karnataka and especially Kodagu, Somaiah said the game needs support from all sections of society, including the government, so that young talents can be nurtured. Reacting to a question on foreign coaches, he said the nationality of coaches is immaterial, but the person in charge of the team should give it his best shot.

The performance of the Indian team was exemplary, and our boys scripted a historic win on foreign soil after a gap of four decades. All the players played exceptionally well, though the efforts of goalkeeper PR Sreejesh were really commendable and his saves were excellent. The performance should inspire youngsters, so that hockey can flourish again in the country and Karnataka, said former goalkeeper and Hockey Karnataka secretary AB Subbaiah.

He said the time has come for governments to frame a sports policy where more school-level hockey tournaments and competitions take place. The private sector should also support sports in a big way, he added.

Cong workers try to lay siege to MP's house

SHIVAMOGGA: Youth Congress workers staged a protest and tried to lay siege to MP BY Raghavendra's house here on Thursday. They alleged that the MP failed to raise issues like hike in fuel prices, non-availability of Covid-19 vaccines and other issues in the Parliament. They charged that the Union Government failed to release the state's pending GST compensation and did not relese funds to tackle floods in the state. The agitating Congress workers were taken into custody when they tried to lay siege to the MP's house.

Woman throws newborn out of clinic window

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

IN a shocking incident, a 22-year-old woman threw her newborn baby from the window of a washroom of a private clinic in Hesaraghatta, near Soladevanahalli. The baby died, and the woman and her lover were booked on charges of murder.

A senior police officer said that based on a complaint by clinic staff, they arrested the woman's lover Shashank (27), an employee with a private company and a resident of Gudemaranahalli in Magadi.

Preliminary investigations revealed that Shashank fell in love with the woman, who is an unemployed graduate. She delivered a premature baby in the private clinic on Tuesday evening, and both were under observation. Later, she went to the washroom and threw the infant boy out of the window. Passersby noticed this and went to check. They noticed her running out of the premises, gave chase and caught her. Soladevanahalli police, who reached the hospital, found that the baby had died after being thrown out. They sent the body for postmortem, and shifted the woman to a government hospital as she developed post-delivery complications.

Shashank, who had admitted her in the clinic, had gone to his friend's house to take rest. When he returned, police detained him, and he revealed that he and the woman were in a relationship. They had decided to kill the baby as they were unmarried, and feared that her parents would punish them.

"We are waiting for the woman to be discharged, and will arrest her. She told doctors that she was afraid of how society would treat an unwed mother, and couldn't face her parents," the police officer said.

ANOTHER team searched Baig's house in Coles Park, Pulakeshinagar, and his office in Jayamahal among other places. The agency has remained tight-lipped about the raids and seizure.

In July, the State Government had provisionally attached the immovable and movable properties of Baig under the Karnataka Protection of Interest of Depositors in Financial Establishments Act, 2004 in the IMA scam. The properties that were attached by the Competent Authority in the IMA case, included the six immovable properties which were mentioned in the affidavit that Baig had submitted before the Election Commission in 2018 along with his nomination papers for the Assembly elections.

The ED had registered a case under the provisions of the PMLA in the IMA case based on the CBI FIR and chargesheets submitted by the central agency. The CBI has registered four cases and filed three chargesheets and three supplementary chargesheets against 33 accused, including IMA Managing Director and CEO Mansoor Khan and its directors, Baig, several private persons, revenue and police officials.

DOC JUMPS TO DEATH FROM 8TH FLOOR OF HOSP

ENS @Bengaluru

A 45-year-old associate professor of MS Ramaiah Medical College and Hospital ended his life by jumping from the 8th floor of the hospital building on Thursday. Police suspect that work pressure might have driven Dr Ambarish Vijay Raghav of the Department of Physiology and a resident of Banashankari, to end his life.

Police said that he had logged in for work at 9.30 am on Wednesday as usual, and had reportedly spoken to his colleagues normally.

"Around 11.45 pm, he fell from the Ramaiah Memorial Hospital building's terrace, which is on the 8th floor. He was last seen around 10.30 am when he was discussing over phone about getting his car repaired. It is suspected that he fell from the terrace as other places are covered with grills for safety. No one has seen him going to the terrace," the police added.

CID logs statements on custodial death

ENS @Bengaluru

OFFICIALS of the Criminal Investigation Department (CID) have recorded statements of the policemen who detained Congolese national Joel Shindani Malu alias Joah, who is said to have suffered a cardiac arrest while in police custody and died in the wee hours of Monday.

The death led to a protest by nationals of African countries in JC Nagar and a lathicharge by the police resulting in some, including policemen, getting injured. A senior police officer told TNIE that a forensic science laboratory report is awaited over the exact cause of Joah's death although doctors had declared it to be due to cardiac arrest.

"Meanwhile, we are analysing CCTV footage to identify more of the accused involved in the riots that took place on Monday and more arrests will be made soon," he said.

Joah's body was handed over to the Embassy of the Democratic Republic of the Congo on Wednesday after the postmortem and further formalities will be handled by the mission to ensure the mortal remains reach his family in Congo.

The CID officials took statements from police officers of JC Nagar and eyewitnesses to Joah being taken into custody. The CID is also likely to call the investigation officer as part of their probe. However, there is no internal inquiry into the custodial death case as CID has been handed over the probe.

Kerala govt firm on test report for shop visits

Move widely flayed, termed anti-people, discriminatory

THE government's containment policy mandating that public carry vaccination certificates or negative RT-PCR test results to visit shops has been termed anti-people and discriminatory by a cross section of people, including health experts.

The new guidelines, which came into effect from Thursday, said only those possessing a vaccination certificate, a negative RT-PCR report less than 72-hour old, or a test showing that they contracted Covid in the past would be allowed to visit shops and offices.

Health Minister Veena George who said the conditions were only 'desirable' in the assembly on Wednesday corrected her stand by endorsing the guidelines issued by Chief Secretary V P Joy. The Opposition on Thursday staged a walkout protesting against the decision.

Even members of the government's expert panel on Covid management found the order 'shocking'. "The decision to make changes to existing containment strategies was approved by the chief minister. However, the wordings changed when it came out as the chief secretary's order. The decision to make such 'immunity certificates' mandatory is absurd," said a member of the expert committee on the condition of anonymity.

In a review meeting on Covid management held on Tuesday, it was decided to consider a weekly caseload per 1,000 people to determine lockdown curbs instead of depending on the test positive rate in local bodies. It was also decided to allow shops to open till 9pm each day for six days a week.

The directive for non-vaccinated people to stay home as much as possible was decided to be issued as an advisory in the meeting and the assembly statement made by Veena on Wednesday was in accordance with the spirit of that decision.

"So far, no country has implemented such a rule. In a house, if there is an 80-year-old vaccinated person and an 18-year-old who has not received the vaccine, the former will have to step out to buy groceries. The risk benefit of vaccines is lesser among older people when compared to younger age groups. There are ethical issues as well because there are many people who are unable to get vaccinated. It also results in increasing digital divide because many people are unaware of their digital vaccination certificate," said internal medicine specialist and health activist Dr N M Arun.

On Thursday, owing to the confusion regarding immunity certificates, many non-vaccinated people refrained from stepping out of their houses.

Police didn't seek vaccination certificates from public anywhere in the state on Thursday. The merchants too complained that the new rules would lead to harassment from police and sectoral magistrates.

WHY THE MOVE IS IMPRACTICAL

- Unconstitutional to classify people according to vaccine status
- It is unfair as vaccine has not reached everyone for reasons beyond people's control
- Only 41.72% of the population has received at least one dose in Kerala
- Many are unfamiliar with downloading certificates
- Most vaccinated groups are in the older, vulnerable category with comorbidities
- Taking RT-PCR is impractical and expensive. The results take time

Dam crest gate collapses, alert sounded

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @Guntur/Vijayawada

PRE-DAWN BREACH

3.30 am: Crest gate No. 16 collapses while being lifted

Officials suspect mechanical failure led to the collapse

Pulichintala held nearly 44 tmcft of water at the time of breach

Stop-lock arrangement put in place

Water in the project should be below 10 tmcft to install it

Inflows and outflows at Prakasam Barrage: 1,12,939 cusecs and 1,03,250 cusecs at 6 pm, Thursday

Water gushes out of Gate No 16 of Pulichintala Project after the crest gate came off

A flood alert has been sounded at Prakasam Barrage in Vijayawada as the crest gate No 16 of Dr KL Rao Sagar Pulichintala Project on Krishna river located upstream of the barrage came out. Consequently, a large quantity of water from Pulichintala is being released downstream. Flood discharge level at Prakasam Barrage is expected to cross 3.979 lakh cusecs by Thursday midnight and the first flood warning is likely to be issued. When water discharge crosses 5.67 lakh cusecs, the second flood warning is issued.

According to irrigation officials, inflows and outflows at the barrage were 1,12,939 cusecs and 1,03,250 cusecs at 6 pm on Thursday. The inflows are increasing rapidly as outflows at Pulichintala were 5,05,870 cusecs at 6 pm, which was getting inflows of 2.2 lakh cusecs from upstream. It normally takes 8-12 hours for the floodwater released from Pulichintala to reach Prakasam Barrage. When the crest gate was washed away, the water storage level in the project was nearly 44 tmcft.

Around 3.30 am, the officials were lifting the crest gates of Pulichintala to release surplus water downstream. The gate No 16 came out as the welding holding it to the dam structure gave away. The hydraulic gate completely broke down due to heavy pressure of floodwater, was washed away. It all happened in a blink of an eye, the officials told Minister for Water Resources P Anil Kumar Yadav, who visited the project to take stock of the situation. A stop-lock arrangement is being made as an alternative and for the purpose around 5-6 lakh cusecs of water is being released from the project.

"Repair works of the 16th gate have been taken up on a war footing and we expect the alternative stop-lock arrangement will be in place by Friday afternoon. Experts from Polavaram have also been pressed into service. At present, flood discharge is 6 lakh cusecs downstream of the project as the water level needs to be low to facilitate installation of stop-lock," he said.

BPO staffer alleges extortion by 'FB friend'

ENS @Bengaluru

A 26-year-old BPO staffer was allegedly trapped by a woman he was friends with on Facebook, who lured him into private talk and extorted Rs 51,000 from him. As she continued to blackmail him, he approached the Whitefield police on Tuesday and filed a case.

A senior police officer said that based on a complaint by Kiran Kumar (name changed), a resident of Munekolalu, a case has been registered against the woman who had befriended him on the social networking site.

The duo were in touch since May and also shared mobile numbers. They soon began to chat in private, and she lately used to force him to disrobe. However, without his knowledge, the woman was allegedly video-recording their interactions, and later started blackmailing him and threatened that she will upload the clips online and also share them among his friends. Fearing for his reputation, Kiran was forced to digitally transfer Rs 51,000 to her bank account. Gradually, as her demands increased, he decided to file a case with the CEN police, Whitefield. Based on the details of the money transfer, the police are tracking the accused and further investigations are on.

Foster dad moves HC to keep baby after wife dies

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @Kochi

A FOSTER father on Thursday sought the permission of the High Court to keep the 21-month-old adopted boy with him after the authorities forced him to hand over the child following the unexpected death of his wife.

"I'm bringing him up as my own child. I need him and I can't live without him," the Kozhikode native pleaded before the court, saying he was emotionally attached to the child as they had adopted him when he was six months old.

"He is growing like my child, hence taking him back is not good for his wellbeing," the petitioner said.

Justice P B Suresh Kumar allowed the father to keep custody of the child, pending disposal of the writ petition.

The central government counsel, appearing for Central Adoption Resource Authority (CARA), sought eight weeks' time for informing its stand. The court hence posted the matter after eight weeks.

In the petition filed through advocate Raghul Sudheesh, the parent stated that he and his wife had decided to adopt as no biological child was born to them. Through CARA, they adopted a male child in 2020 from the Society of Sisters of Charity Holy Angels Convent, Bangalore. But the wife died a week after the adoption.

Since then, the petitioner and his family have been bringing up the child. He also informed Society and Child Welfare Committee, Kozhikode, about it. Since the adoption order was not received in due time, the petitioner contacted the society requesting to finalise the proceedings. But he was told the application was with CARA for final disposal and it was likely to be done without further delay.

The father said an officer of the Kozhikode District Child Protection Office attempted to forcibly take the child in custody on July 19, 2021, stating the office had received directions from CARA. He added the officer's action was without even giving an opportunity of hearing him or any prior notice.

Besides playing intra-squad practice matches, they also played against local teams, which would field 11 players against seven or eight national players. All of it would be recorded and the players would be shown the areas of the game which needed improvement. Also, in order to acclimatise with Tokyo's hot weather, the players were made to train and sweat it out in the afternoons. The focus of the teams remained on fitness, which was extremely important as the quadrennial event comprised the best teams of the world.

"There was a lot of focus on fitness - improving endurance and speed among other things. Sometimes, they had to play (train) with extra weights tied at the hip portion to improve speed along with the strength," said former SAI coach Shankar B Tolamatti.

The rigorus training paid off in Tokyo, where the men's team fared well against top teams as regards skill, stamina and speed, to finish third in the competition. What makes this feat even more special is how the players stood as a unit during the most difficult phase of Covid-19.

During the nationwide lockdown, the players were confined to their respective hostel rooms for weeks at SAI last year. It proved to be a test of their mental strength as well. To make matters worse, in the months that followed, some players also tested positive for Covid-19.

"If you look at various things, this win means much more. It is not only about the bronze medal. It will motivate youngsters to pick up the sport too. I know that young girls in the country have already been inspired by what the women's team has done so far. Imagine if they win bronze tomorrow (Friday), that will be historic," said Shankar.

IMD officials said that the monsoon was normal and on Wednesday, Agumbe in Shivamogga had recorded 11 cm rainfall, while Kollur in Udupi and Santhahalli in Kodagu recorded 6cm rainfall each. The IMD has also issued an yellow alert for parts of coastal Karnataka for Friday.

KERALA’S UNTESTED STRATEGY SHOULDN’T CAUSE MORE HARM

Desperate times call for desperate measures. Kerala, still grappling with the Covid-19 second wave, has adopted a new strategy to deal with a seemingly unmanageable situation. While relaxing lockdown restrictions considerably and allowing almost all sectors to open, it has enforced measures aimed at allowing only those with a certain level of immunity against the virus to move around. The new rules, effective from Thursday, dictate that people need to be vaccinated with at least one dose or carry an RT-PCR negative report not older than 72 hours or have proof of Covid infection in the past to be allowed into shops, offices, other establishments and tourist spaces. The idea—almost like the vaccine passport plan being considered by some foreign cities and countries—is driven by the twin objective of jump-starting the ailing economy and restoring Covid-crippled livelihoods ahead of Onam, and bringing the pandemic under control on all relevant parameters, especially given the failure of earlier strategies now. The financial distress has claimed about 23 lives in the last seven weeks alone and the rise in infections has resulted in Keralites being singled out for interstate travel curbs. It was time Kerala did something about the situation.

However, the new strategy has raised new questions. With the vaccine coverage being inadequate, enforcement of such a rule comes with serious practical difficulties. The requirement of an RT-PCR report is also an unrealistic proposition for those getting out for daily needs and livelihood reasons. Much like the flawed TPR-based lockdown strategy that the government adamantly stuck to, there’s a danger of the new one turning out to be an illogical imposition on a struggling population—doing more harm than good. It could end up being a tool in the hands of the police to harass people, also like the earlier one.

There’s only one proven strategy to deal with Covid—test, trace, isolate and treat. The government must also look at ways to speed up vaccination. What it should do is pay more attention to what its expert panel is saying, instead of relying on a bureaucracy/police-driven agenda. What it shouldn’t at all do is burden the people, hinder livelihood options and constrain businesses further while trying out unproven strategies.

STELLAR TN ROLE IN MED OBC QUOTA

Amid all the BJP euphoria over the Centre allocating 27% seats for the Other Backward Classes (OBCs) and 10% for the Economically Weaker Section of the population in medical education within the All India Quota (AIQ), the fact that the reservation is the fallout of Tamil Nadu’s relentless struggle for social justice cannot be lost sight of. AIQ is a creature of the Supreme Court, which in 1986 decided to reserve 15% UG and 25% (now 50%) PG seats in state-run colleges for meritorious non-domicile students. Caste reservations crept into AIQ by and by with allocations for SC/STs, but the OBC quota was left undefined. Most states didn’t seem to mind as their total quota is capped at the SC-mandated 50%, while TN enjoys 69%, of which 50% is for OBCs. TN wanted its special reservation injected into AIQ for seats it surrendered to the national pool and got a favourable order from the Madras High Court in July last year. The order directed the Centre to set up a committee to carve out the OBC quota within three months, adding it would be applicable to all future admissions. Yet, the Centre took its time, delaying PG dental surgery admissions in the process, and getting a rap on the knuckles from the SC and later a rebuke from the Madras HC. In the HC, it argued in vain to maintain the status quo. Looking at the whole situation from this perspective, the recent decision to provide 27% OBC quota in AIQ seats doesn’t seem as rosy for the Centre as it later sought to spin it into. The devil, as they say, is in the details.

Tamil Nadu’s parties have again approached the HC saying the OBC quota cap for the state should be lifted to 50%. With the Bench agreeing that the question of applicability of each state’s standalone quota law in AIQ cannot be ignored, the ball is back with the Centre. On a different note, is the fight over AIQ’s OBC quota really adding seats for students in Tamil Nadu, since NEET score alone matters for that category, not domicile status? Data analytics ought to help indicate the trend, but there is no publicly available information yet to establish it.

Kerala has worked diligently to flatten the pandemic curve. The current surge attests to the infectiousness of the Delta variant and only mass vaccinations can curtail it

COVID CONTROL CONUNDRUM OF KERALA EXPLAINED

DR T JACOB JOHN
Former Professor of Clinical Virology, CMC, Vellore

DR M S SESHADRI
Medical Director, Thirumalai Mission Hospital, Ranipet

SOUMYADIP SINHA

Kerala continues to be in the news for high numbers of new cases of coronavirus infection—nearly half of the national total—day after day for the last few weeks. Contrary to popular perception, the fact is that among all states, Kerala had managed the pandemic in the best possible manner and the present conundrum is its consequence.

A team from the Centre visited to advise the state government; we hope the team understood realities and will help with the key remedy—liberal doses of the vaccine.

We present five reasons to prove Kerala had surpassed all other states in pandemic management.

The media had noticed disparities between low numbers of reported Covid deaths and recorded visuals of extraordinarily large numbers of dead bodies given last rites with Covid precautions at burial grounds/cemeteries. Global attention was caught by hundreds of dead bodies floating in North Indian rivers daily. In contrast to this grim picture, Kerala’s magnitude of unreported “excess deaths” attributable to Covid, over and above the total deaths in the Civil Registration System, is the lowest among all states.

The Central and most state health ministries grossly underreported Covid deaths—partly due to flaws in death-reporting in the health management system and partly for saving face. While India had gloated that only about 4,00,000 Covid deaths have occurred since its onset (claiming the world’s lowest case-fatality ratio), independent investigations estimated nearly 10-fold higher (3 to 4 million) deaths.

The reporting of SARS-CoV-2 infection is based on test-positive status, mostly RT-PCR and partly Rapid Antigen Test. Both have high specificity, hence reliability. Once diagnosed with infection, subjects are followed up until recovery or death. So documented death numbers are reliable, except that we cannot know what was missed. That is where the Civil Registry data comes in handy.

The crux: the lower the discrepancy between the documented Covid deaths and the excess deaths certified in Civil Registration compared to pre-pandemic years, the more complete the counting of deaths and infections in a given state. Kerala has by far the lowest discrepancy and hence the highest score for case detection and death notification.

Second, Kerala’s high alert and contact-tracing skills resulted in detecting the earliest three virus importations into India. The state managed to prevent secondary transmission. The first ICMR sero-survey estimate of 6.46 million infections on 3 May 2020 clearly indicates that many other states missed many importations of infections in March 2020—only this can account for such a large number of infections within two months of epidemic onset.

Third, Kerala has the country’s highest testing rate—78,000 per lakh population—against the national average of about 33,000 (states ranging between less than 30,000 to about 60,000). Higher test frequency means more infections detected.

Fourth, it has the lowest antibody prevalence (44%) among all states in the most recent sero-survey, certifying that Kerala had indeed succeeded in averting lakhs of infections in both the 2020 and 2021 waves (until June 2021). Kerala was under-represented in four ICMR sero-surveys; but samples were always from one district and this was invaluable for comparisons. In every sero-survey, Kerala consistently had the lowest antibody prevalence.

Kerala kept the wolf at bay, waiting for rescue by liberal amounts of vaccine in July—either as a reward in appreciation of the state’s achievement or for the opportunity to prevent infections by the Delta variant that cannot be controlled by any other means.

Fifth, at no time was the healthcare system (well-coordinated public and private sectors) overwhelmed—there was no lack of oxygen or bed availability. Kerala has the most reliable data for case fatality rate in India, which never crossed 0.5%. The national reported average is 1.3%; the true rate was probably much higher. Kerala’s low mortality rate is in spite of three disadvantages—one of the highest population densities, longest life expectancy and one of the highest diaspora densities.

Higher the population density, more rapid the viral spread, yet Kerala managed the epidemic well and flattened the curve in both waves. Higher the life expectancy, higher the proportion of senior citizens at high risk of Covid mortality, but the state succeeded in saving thousands of lives. Higher the diaspora density, the more numerous and repetitive importations of virus variants from overseas; vigilant Kerala mitigated even these challenges posed by Vande Bharat.

But of late, Kerala has begun taking hasty and shaky decisions, presumably an emotional reaction of a successful warrior unnerved by undue criticism. The state government has introduced illogical constraints on normal life

The Delta variant is a stealth-spreader—all past prevention strategies are no match to it. The present picture of the infection spread not coming under control with recurrent surges attest to the infectiousness of the Delta variant. Such a contagion could only have been curtailed by mass vaccinations.

A discerning Central government ought to showcase Kerala as a shining example of a state that worked diligently to flatten the pandemic curve and keep the number of infections and deaths down. The current problem is inadequate vaccine supply, not under-utilisation of vaccines already supplied. The vaccine wastage rate in Kerala is the lowest in the country, on par with that of Tamil Nadu.

Having said all these by way of appreciation, of late, Kerala has begun taking hasty and shaky decisions, presumably an emotional reaction of a successful warrior unnerved by undue and unkind criticism. The Kerala government has introduced illogical constraints on normal life. Strict short-term lockdowns, alternate day shop closing, reduced public transport, etc., all meant to reduce social contacts and physical closeness, are measures that cannot stop the Delta variant’s spread. On the contrary, such measures produce exactly the opposite results: If the time or space for procuring essential human necessities—shopping or travelling—is restricted, the duration of contact will increase and crowding will be enhanced, promoting infection spread. Restrictions that are ineffective to control infection but curtail human welfare/well-being are useless and harmful.

The goal of restraining social contact is to protect human welfare/well-being from the pandemic. The present upsurge of the Delta variant is not amenable to the interventions that worked well in the past for the Wuhan virus/D614G variant. According to the Centres for Disease Control (US), the Delta variant has a basic reproduction number (Ro) four times higher than the previous variants. The government should avoid false fault-finding, but be humane to citizens.

Pending wider vaccination cover, there should be no let up on appropriate universal mask use—double-masking with cloth mask over disposable surgical mask or reusable N-95 masks offer some, albeit limited, protection.

Vaccination is the only remedy to stop the epidemic. Vaccination coverage is currently 18% (two doses) and 42% (one dose). If the former is enhanced to 30-40% two weeks prior to Onam, Kerala can relax a bit and enjoy the festival.

About future needs regarding vaccinating school children and booster doses, decisions can be made more leisurely. The time for vaccine supply for wider coverage to consolidate Kerala’s gains in its fight against the pandemic is right now.

MANGO LEFTOVERS IN U.P. AND ECONOMIC GROWTH

HINDOL SENGUPTA
VP & Head of Research at Invest India, GoI’s national investment promotion agency

This essay narrates a simple idea. Connect the dots. India is the world’s largest mango producing country. In India, Uttar Pradesh is the biggest mango-producing region.

This adds up to tens of thousands of tonnes of fruit, very significant exports (49,658 MT in 2019-20 according to the Agricultural and Processed Food Products Export Development Authority or APEDA) and around 1,000 varieties spread across the country. Uttar Pradesh is the biggest producer of mangoes in India, and by that virtue, the biggest such fruit-producing region in the world.

This also means a lot of mango leftovers, thousands of tonnes of it. What can Uttar Pradesh do to simultaneously leverage its mango production ability and create a whole new sustainable industry that would create thousands of new jobs and raise the productivity of its giant mango production industry?

Consider inputs from new technology. A Dutch start-up Fruitleather, based in Rotterdam, and a French start-up called Vegskin, based in Wattrelos, are pioneering the technique of converting fruit waste to vegan leather. Fruitleather notes in its mission statement that each year, consumers around the world throw away 1.3 billion tonnes of food, around a third of the production; 45% of the fruit produced is wasted. Around a third of the agricultural land used produces food that will be thrown away, and farmers destroy around 40% of their crops because the produce does not look good on the shelves of supermarkets and therefore is unlikely to be bought. At the same time, each year, “more than a billion animals are slaughtered so that the hides can be used. The cleaning process that the hides undergo produces worldwide approximately 650 million kilos of CO_2”. That’s where vegan mango waste-based leather comes in. London’s Luxtra fashion label is already using this vegan mango leather successfully.

Now imagine what the introduction of this technology could do in Uttar Pradesh—which is adept not only at growing mangoes but is also one of the biggest leather hubs in India. In fact, illegal animal slaughter and processing for leather has been a major cause of industrial pollution in the state. What this mango waste-based vegan leather technology could do is take the expertise of the state and its farmers and leather-makers and turn them towards a sustainable global product that could see high demand in the country and around the world.

What can Uttar Pradesh do to simultaneously leverage its mango production ability and create a whole new sustainable industry that would create thousands of new jobs? It can look at applying technology to produce a revolutionary product using mango waste

This could be pitched and exported as a unique product from India and sold in countless items within the country as a sustainable, non-violent and animal-cruelty-free product.

To understand the demand for such non-animal-based leathers, note that Bolt Threads, a start-up that specialises in using Mylo—a leather alternative made from mushrooms—has not only won support from fashion giants like the Kering conglomerate and sporting major Adidas, but also has the designer Stella McCartney using its products. A new report by Material Innovation Initiative (MII) consultancy suggests that non-animal leather is about to explode in the same way as non-animal meat and is set to hit revenues of around $2.2 billion by 2026.

So, imagine this vision—a global fashion tech hub in Uttar Pradesh, maybe in Noida, or even in Kanpur or Lucknow, specialising in non-animal leather made from mango waste, and supplied around the world. This would include not only technological inputs from global partners, but also ESG (environmental, social and corporate governance) sensitive investments from around the world.

Uttar Pradesh has both the raw material, the technical know-how of leather, and the size to give this project real scale and become a global leader. It would also showcase how using the latest technology, a new fillip of productivity can be given to Indian agriculture, marrying it to best practices in manufacturing.

Such ideas and connecting the dots are critical in the leap UP is poised to make as it aims to hit $1 trillion in state GDP in the coming years. Such a target needs revolutionary breadth of vision and not incrementalism, and the mangoes of Uttar Pradesh could be a vital element in this jump.

Nurture hockey

Kudos to the men’s Indian hockey team for winning a medal in the Olympics. Hockey and football are sports for the ordinary people. I hope efforts would be made to nurture hockey such that it becomes as popular as cricket among youngsters.

N Nagarajan, Secunderabad

Worth its weight in gold

What a nail-biting match for a podium finish. The victory is yet to sink in. We fought like tigers against the odds to finally come up trumps. The years of training and astute preparation have now paid dividends. At least now hockey will bounce back as a major sport in this cricket-crazy nation. This single victory is as good as a gold medal and will be a huge inspiration for the women’s team in their bronze medal match. Nothing is impossible now. Chak De India.

C M Umanath, Kozhikode

More importance to sports

Kudos to the Indian hockey men’s team. I’m a retired headmaster of a village higher secondary school in Nazareth in the southern part of TN where some three decades ago, there was a beautiful hockey ground. The physical education teachers trained them from Class 6 level. Unfortunately when Class 12 exams assumed importance, physical education classes were ignored and the students were engaged by subject teachers. With the bronze in Tokyo, there is a ray of hope for hockey in India. Developing infrastructure, identifying the talents and catching them young, and providing them healthy food are necessary.

Rajakumar A, Palayamkottai

Kudos to wrestler

This is with reference to Wrestling Ravi-lution continues (Aug 5). Ravi Kumar Dahiya did well to storm into the freestyle 57 kg final in the Tokyo Olympics. He became the second Indian wrestler to bag a silver medal after Sushil Kumar in 2012.

Jayashree Thampi, Thiruvananthapuram

Taking on the BJP together

This is with reference to the editorial Challenge for oppn to replicate unity in state polls (Aug 5). The key reason for disarray in the opposition ranks is the personal ambition of prominent leaders who work at cross purposes. The second is the intimidation factor. Most of its leaders have a chequered and dubious past and the Modi government is poised to unleash investigative agencies on them in case they cross their limits. Forget optics management, have they got the gumption to close ranks and take on the BJP in the forthcoming Assembly elections?

Deepak Singhal, Noida

Modi Hatao alone won’t work

The editorial rightly points to the weak links in the opposition camp. If the parties unite only with the agenda of Modi Hatao, it is going to be a failure. The opposition leaders do not seem to have fresh ideas and for now, there is no one who can match Modi’s charisma, popularity and staying power.

Boon to Keralites

That flights to the UAE have restarted is a great boon to Keralites stranded here for almost four months. I thank the UAE regime for taking this step as our people are facing financial hardship.

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ New Delhi

THE Opposition on Thursday said that they cannot be intimidated into silence on the Pegasus and farmers' issues and their united stand would not change in the face of attempts to crush their issues by threat, fear or pressure and would continue to fight.

On the Rajya Sabha Chairman considering a complaint by Parliament's woman security officer against a TMC MP for allegedly heckling her after being suspended for a day, Leader of Opposition in the House, Mallikarjun Kharge said that the suspended MPs did nothing wrong and were only showing placards.

"The BJP doesn't have tolerance. Suspension of six TMC members was wrong. They did nothing wrong and placards have been used earlier also. If attempts are made to crush and muzzle our issues by targeting us, using threats, fear, the Congress and united Opposition will not budge and will keep fighting," said Kharge.

Kharge said the Centre is blaming the Opposition for disruptions in the House and saying that they are not ready for discussion. "We are ready for discussion right now and let's start it, but the government has not yet reached out to the Opposition and no notice has been sent for any meeting."

He cited past instances where Rule 267 discussions were allowed in Rajya Sabha and questioned why the government was escaping the Pegasus debate when several countries had ordered probes. "Disruption in Parliament is over the Pegasus issue. It's an issue which impinges on national security and citizen freedom and privacy. Press, army, and judges have been named as potential targets. Why is the government running away?"

The Leader of Opposition asked who has called a meeting. "Has the Leader of the House called anyone? The government is saying the Opposition doesn't want to speak on farmers' issues, inflation and people's issues. This is not true. Precedent is there of discussions and yet they are not allowing a debate on Pegasus."

Onus on government to run Parl smoothly: Oppn

Leaders from Opposition read out comments made by Jaitley and Swaraj justifying disruption of Parliament during reign of UPA

RICHA SHARMA @ New Delhi

AS the blame game continues over disruptions in Parliament, the Opposition on Thursday tried to turn the table on BJP by quoting late saffron leaders Arun Jaitley and Sushma Swaraj to make their point that it is the responsibility of the government to ensure smooth functioning of the House.

The monsoon session has so far seen a united Opposition taking on the treasury benches over Pegasus spyware, leading to disruptions in both Houses. Prime Minister Narendra Modi on Tuesday said that the conduct of the Opposition is an insult to the Constitution, democracy and the people.

The Opposition leaders are now targeting the BJP government, quoting what former Union ministers Jaitley and Swaraj had said on the floor during UPA II, when their party was in the Opposition.

The Opposition leaders from Congress, NCP and others even shared on social media video clips and statements made by the two late BJP leaders to make their point.

Congress chief whip in Rajya Sabha, Jairam Ramesh quoted an August 24, 2012 statement of Jaitley: "It is not that we have decided no work will be done (in the Parliament). What we are doing (obstructing Parliament) is very important work itself." He also shared Swaraj's September 8, 2012 statement: "Not allowing Parliament to function is also a form of democracy, like any other form."

Manickam Tagore, Congress Lok Sabha MP, also quoted Jaitley where the former Leader of the House in Rajya Sabha was justifying protests.

He cited January 30, 2011 comments of Jaitley: "Parliament's job is to conduct discussions. But many times Parliament is used to ignore issues and in such situations, obstruction of Parliament is in the favour of democracy. Therefore parliamentary obstruction is not undemocratic. Tagore quoted another Jaitley comment from Jaitley's remarks on August 26, 2012, which said, "There are occasions when obstruction in Parliament brings greater benefits to the country. Our strategy does not permit us to allow the government to use Parliament (for debate) without being held accountable."

Joining the ranks, NCP Rajya Sabha MP Majeed Memon questioned why the government did not concede to the just demand of Opposition to have a full fledged debate on Pegasus snooping when Supreme Court calls upon the Centre to come forward and answer questions raised in petitions.

"It is the government's job to run the Parliament and not of the Opposition'. Cried Arun Jaitley and Sushma Swaraj, the BJP leaders, when they sat in Opposition. Have the rules changed now?" he questioned.

Another Opposition MP mentioned another Swaraj statement from August, 2012: "We had to stall Parliament to expose the government and its corruption."

No proposal to study minority backwardness

New Delhi: There is no proposal under consideration to constitute new commissions to study the backwardness of Muslim and Christian communities in India. Mukhtar Abbas Naqvi, the Union Minister for Minority Affairs, said this in Lok Sabha on Thursday, in response to similar questions from TMC and Congress MPs.

New Delhi: The government in the last seven years has disbursed scholarships for more than 4.52 crore among students from minority communities. This was stated in Lok Sabha by Mukhtar Abbas Naqvi, the Union Minister for Minority Affairs. He said the government took several steps to help the deserving candidates.

Bill introduced to set up university in Ladakh

New Delhi: A bill seeking to amend the Central Universities Act, 2009, to provide for a university in Ladakh was introduced in Lok Sabha on Thursday. The university, said the government, will be crucial for the region's emotional integration with the rest of the country and send out a message of solidarity.

Govt not blinking for fear of putting leadership in a spot

MANISH ANAND @ New Delhi

THE Parliament logjam continues to sweat out the presiding officers, with the government refusing to yield even an inch to the Opposition's demand for discussions on the snooping row and reply by either PM Narendra Modi or Home Minister Amit Shah.

The BJP apparently believes that accepting such conditions may put the top leadership in a spot while emboldening the rivals, who are closing ranks with an eye on 2024 Lok Sabha elections and next year's state polls. For public posturing, though, the party asserts that the government is ready for discussion on any issue, including Pegasus, and it's the Opposition that is running away.

This line of argument was reiterated by senior BJP leader Ravi Shankar Prasad at a press conference on Thursday. "When Union minister Ashwani Vaishnav replied, Opposition MPs tore his papers," he said.

While many MPs from non-Congress and non-BJP ranks believe the government has no solution to offer to end the deadlock, NDA floor managers claim that accepting the Opposition's conditions are out of the question.

"The minister concerned replies to discussion under Rule 193. To demand that the PM or the Home Minister should reply is neither in line with norms and conventions nor acceptable. Besides, statements given in the House may expose the top leadership to any future consequences since the full account of the snooping issue is still not known," said a senior BJP leader.

The government is also unfazed since it has managed to get the bills, some of them contentious, passed without Parliament scrutiny.

The BJP has, in fact, stepped up the heat against the opposition, particularly the Congress, over the disruptions. "Having dominated Parliament for the longest time since 1947, it is ironic that the Congress has the least respect for parliamentary ethos and proceedings," said a BJP release.

Taking "a walk down the history lane", the party said that "till the interests of one dynasty are safeguarded, Parliament is 'allowed' to function".

Jolt to Amarinder: Kishor quits as principal advisor

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Chandigarh/New Delhi

WITH just a few months left for Assembly elections and a strong buzz over his induction in the Congress party, political strategist Prashant Kishor has resigned from the post of Principal Advisor to Punjab Chief Minister Amarinder Singh.

In a letter to the Chief Minister, Kishor said that he is yet to decide on his future course of action. "As you are aware, in view of my decision to take a temporary break from an active role in public life, I have not been able to take over the responsibilities as your Principal Advisor. Since I am yet to decide on my future course of action, I write to request you to kindly relieve me from this responsibility," he wrote.

He thanked the chief minister for considering him for this position. Sources said that the decision may have been prompted by Navjot Singh Sidhu's elevation as Punjab Congress president.

Kishor held several meetings with Congress leaders Rahul Gandhi and Priyanka Gandhi Vadra in the last few weeks, to revive the grand old party. There was speculation that he might joing the party as well. A senior Congress leader said that the party is mulling a suitable post for Kishor, as he has called for a free hand in decision making to revamp the party.

In March this year. Kishor, founder of the Indian Political Action Committee (IPAC), was appointed as Principal Advisor in the rank of Cabinet minister and it was said that he would be paid ₹1 per month as token honorarium. Besides, he would be entitled to perks including a government residence, half a dozen staff, free transport, free air travel, telephone and medical facilities.

Earlier, when infighting in Punjab Congress was going on, former party president Rahul had a meeting with Kishor. Also, when Amarinder visited the national capital on a two-day trip, he had met Kishor.

Kishor was credited with planning and executing the 2017 Assembly polls for the Congress when the party won with a thumping majority of 77 in 117 seats. He had played a role in bringing Sidhu to the Congress prior to the previous elections. He had said that he would quit working as an election strategist after helping TMC gain whopping majority in the West Bengal Assembly elections earlier this year. However, he has continued to work with TMC in Bengal.

Booster dose not part of India's vaccine plan yet

SUMI SUKANYA DUTTA @ New Delhi

SOME developed countries have already started or are about to roll out Covid-19 booster doses amid concerns of waning immunity as the more dangerous delta variant runs amok globally. But this proposition is not on radar in India as of now, authorities told this daily.

Israel, with the threat of a fresh wave of the pandemic looming, recently became the first nation to start booster doses of Covid vaccines. France and Germany, too, have declared their intent to start booster doses to some of the most vulnerable population groups beginning September.

Indian government said the priority is to maximise the vaccination coverage, which stands at less than 8% for two doses. "I don't think there is sufficient data to suggest that a booster dose is required for those fully vaccinated," said Samiran Panda, chief epidemiologist with the ICMR and member of the National Expert Group on Vaccine Administration for Covid.

However, there is a section that wants the government to explore the possibility of booster doses, mainly for healthcare workers who were the first to be vaccinated. Months have passed since they got their second doses. "A number of doctors among other healthcare workers were fully vaccinated in March. Unfortunately, many of them died during the second wave," said a member of the Indian Medical Association.

This was mainly because vaccines were less effective against the delta variant. It would be prudent for the government, he said, to offer healthcare workers booster doses, preferably with mRNA vaccine, once it is available.

Panda, on the other hand, pointed out that data so far suggests that existing vaccines are capable of ensuring protection against serious disease and fatalities from six months to one year or longer. through memory T cells.

Only on Wednesday, WHO director general Tedros Adhanom called for a moratorium on booster doses of Covid-19 vaccines until the end of September. This proposed moratorium, if implemented, will be a temporary measure to enable at least 10 of the population of every country to be vaccinated against SARS-CoV-2, however some rich countries have clearly decided to ignore it.

Srinath Reddy, president of Public Health Foundation of India and member of the National Covid-19 task force, backed the WHO position. "The WHO says special categories of persons who require immunity boosters, such as immunocompromised persons, may still be given booster doses," he said, adding that it is the demand for boosters in those countries which will become a problem.

"UN #SecurityCouncil will meet on Friday, 6th August, under Indian Presidency to discuss and take stock of the situation in #Afghanistan," Tirumurti said in his tweet.

UN & international community must play a greater role to stop the tragedy in Afghanistan due to violence & atrocities by terrorists. Thank you India for the lead role as UNSC President," he tweeted.

UK quarantine rule relaxed for Indian visitors

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ New Delhi

THE United Kingdom has moved India from its 'red' list to 'amber' list, permitting passengers from India to not undergo the mandatory 10-day hotel quarantine.

Passengers from amber list countries will be mandated to 10-day home quarantine or any place of their choice. The move is likely to be a relief for many students going to the UK, as hotel quarantine was too expensive for them. The 'Test to Release' after five days of quarantine option would still be available for incoming passengers. Following the move, Indians can now apply for tourist visas to visit the UK.

Those travelling from India will need to take a Covid test within three days before their flight and book in advance for two Covid tests to be done on arrival in England as well as complete a passenger locator form on arrival.

Two men booked for casteist slurs against Olympian Kataria

VINEETH UPADHYAY @Dehradun

ONE of the men who hurled casteist slurs against the kin of Olympian Vandana Kataria is a hockey player himself and used to practice with her about eight years ago, family members said.

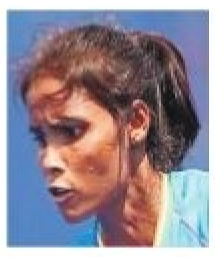
Vandana Kataria was part of the Indian women's hockey team that lost on Wednesday to Argentina in the Tokyo Olympics 2020. Hours after that, two men made casteist remarks and did a mock dance in front of the Kataria family's home, in her native village of Roshanabad in the Haridwar district of Uttarakhand.

A case has been registered against the two men.

"He (one of the men) used to practice with my sister and has played hockey for Uttarakhand," said Pankaj Kataria, a brother of the former captain of the Indian Women's Hockey team.

Chandrashekhar Kataria, another brother of Vandana, described what occured following news of the hockey defeat. "Just after 10 seconds the match wound up we heard noises of cracker bursting. We were so in grief that we could not understand what happened. Few minutes later, we got to know that some people are dancing in front of our house. They hurled casteist slurs and celebrated the defeat of India as if it were something great for them," said Chandrashekhar Kataria, brother of the Olympian.

The two men — Sumit Chauhan and Vijay Pal — are from the same village. Haridwar police has registered a case against them under Section 504 (Intentional insult with intent to provoke breach of the peace) and Section 3 in the Scheduled Castes and Scheduled Tribes (Prevention of Atrocities) Act, 1989.



Vandana Kataria

The case was registered after Savita Kataria, a sister-in-law of Vandana Kataria, said on Wednesday that she will kill herself if action was not taken. However, police officials said that the family of Kataria and two men have been involved in a tussle. "The families have some issues between them. Initial investigation revealed that this was an act of jealousy," said an official involved in the probe.

Assam, Mizoram agree to not send police personnel to disputed areas

Two governments agree to maintain peace and welcome deployment of Central forces

PRASANTA MAZUMDAR @Guwahati

ASSAM and Mizoram agreed not to send their forest and police forces for patrolling, area domination, enforcement or deployment to any of the areas where confrontation took place between the two police forces in recent times.

This would include all such areas along Assam's Karimganj, Hailakandi and Cachar districts and Mizoram's Mamit and Kolasib districts. The representatives of two governments met in Aizawl on Thursday. According to a joint statement, the two states agreed to maintain peace along the interstate border and welcomed the deployment of neutral force by the Centre.

"The Governments of Assam and Mizoram welcome and agree to take forward the initiatives taken by the Ministry of Home Affairs, Government of India and Honourable Chief Ministers of Assam and Mizoram to remove tensions prevailing around the inter-State borders and to find lasting solutions to the disputes through discussions," the statement read.

The two sides agreed to take necessary measures to promote, preserve and maintain peace and harmony among people living in the two states, particularly in border areas. The Mizoram Chief Minister's Office tweeted: "Govt. of Assam & Govt of Mizoram successfully signed a Joint Statement today after deliberations at Aizawl. Both governments agree to take forward Ministry of Home Affairs' initiatives to remove prevailing tensions and to find lasting solutions through discussions."

Both the states also condoled the deaths of those killed in the incident and prayed for the speedy recovery of the injured persons.

Assam Minister Ashok Singhal, who took part in the deliberation, wrote on the micro blogging site: "With great optimism from both sides, we held our discussion with the Home Minister of Mizoram @Lalchamliana12 Ji & other officials on resolving the #AssamMizoramBorder issue. This is in continuation of the discussion initiated by HCM @himantabiswa Ji & HCM @ZoramthangaCM."

Both states have differing interpretations of their territorial border. While Mizoram believes that its border lies along an 'inner line' drawn up in 1875 to protect tribals from outside influence, Assam goes by a district demarcation done in the 1930s.

The July 26 skirmish left six Assam Police personnel dead and scores injured.

No provision to file FIR on snoopgate, says counsel

SIBAL took the judges through a California court order to highlight the rogue technology and the fact that it can be bought by governments alone.

"This (technology) infiltrates into our lives without our knowing.... It hears, surveys every minute of our movement. It is an assault on privacy, human dignity, and the values of our republic, as it infiltrates into the backbone of the internet system,"

Sibal said citing a statement by the head of NSO Group, which owns Pegasus. Appearing for activist Jagdeep Chhokar, senior advocate Shyam Divan said the case is much more than an individual's interest, as it concerns the privacy of all citizens.

Divan informed the court that the petitions were filed only after the two-year-old investigation into a list that was supposedly leaked by a whistleblower revealed the snooping instances.

Senior advocate Arvind Datar appearing for two journalists said there was no provision under law that allowed them to take legal recourse for infringement of their privacy of such a nature. He added the current Information Technology Act permits criminal action in case there is harm to bodily privacy. Datar was responding to question on whether the individuals whose phones were hacked had sought to file any FIR.

Gorkhas hail Assam govt's decision to not prosecute them

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Guwahati

THE Bharatiya Gorkha Parisangh (BGP), the national social organisation of the Gorkhas, on Thursday hailed the Assam government's decision not to prosecute any members of the Gorkha community under the Citizenship Act.

The state government decided that no new cases will be lodged against members of the Gorkha community at the Foreigners' Tribunals (FTs). It will also withdraw cases that were already registered.

BGP national secretary Nanda Kirati Dewan, said the decision comes as a huge relief for the Gorkhas.

"It will also remove the tag of illegal immigrants or foreigners from the members of the community, who are original inhabitants of Assam and are bonafide Indian citizens," he said. Dewan alleged that at least 22,000 Gorkhas have been marked as "doubtful voters" or "D voters" arbitrarily in the electoral rolls since 1997 and nearly 2,500 were being heard at the various Foreigners' Tribunals.

"Around 500 cases were disposed off since the NRC (National Register of Citizens) process began. A few were given ex-parte decision and declared foreigner. Some were jailed in detention camp. With our combined efforts, most of these cases have been resolved, but some are still pending," Dewan said.

The Gorkha community demands the removal of D-voter tag to mark the implementation of the cabinet decision so that these people can exercise their voting rights in the upcoming by-elections.

"The BGP pursued the matter not just legally but also before the constitutional authority. The (then) honourable CJI Justice Ranjan Gogoi had observed that the Gorkhas are the assets of the nation. The MHA too had issued a notification about Gorkha D voters and FTs on Sept 24, 2018. It said the Gorkhas shouldn't be tried at FTs," Dewan said.

WITH heavy rains ravaging the Gwalior-Chambal region in Madhya Pradesh – leaving two persons dead and damaging several bridges and other infrastructure – Chief Minister Shivraj Singh Chouhan on Thursday said the state has "not seen such devastation in the last 70 years".

Public Works Department (PWD) minister Gopal Bhargava formed a committee of engineers to probe into the destruction of at least six bridges in the deluge and ascertain whether faulty design or low quality works were responsible for the damage.

Bihar Chief Minister Nitish Kumar conducts aerial survey of flood-affected area in his state on Thursday | PTI

The bridges built over 11 years and costing ₹33 crore were swept away after the torrential rains sent rivers into spate over the past three days. Three of the six bridges – built on the Sindh River in Datia district – were washed away in the past 24 hours.

Torrential rains and the resultant floods in seven districts of Gwalior-Chambal region – comprising Datia, Shivpuri, Sheopur, Bhind, Morena, Gwalior and Guna – have left a trail of destruction.

According to the government's preliminary statistics, 55,199 people from over 1,200 villages have been impacted by floods in rivers Parvati, Chambal, Sindh, Kuno and Kuwari. Around 31,000 people have so far been rescued, with over 16,000 being accommodated in 126 relief camps.

The actual loss of property, including agricultural and livestock, is yet to be ascertained.

"Detailed survey will be carried out to ascertain the damage caused by the floods and each and every loss will be compensated. As an immediate relief we have decided to provide 50 kg food grain to each flood-hit family. They would also be compensated at the rate of ₹25,000 each for damaged tubewell/well, while ₹30,000 each will be provided for loss of cattle. Loss of goats and poultry, too, would be compensated," Chouhan said.

Nitish seeks in-person meet with PM on caste census

RAJESH KUMAR THAKUR @Patna

JD(U) leader and Bihar Chief Minister Nitish Kumar on Thursday said he has sought an appointment with Prime Minister Narendra Modi to discuss the contentious caste-based census issue. Nitish, who had earlier broken ranks with the NDA by seeking a probe into the Pegasus snooping, is opposed to the Centre's stand of holding the census only for the SCs and STs.

"I have already written to the PM. Upon getting time, we will go to the PM and demand a caste-based census," the chief minister told reporters here. The letter came days after Leader of the Opposition (RJD) Tejashwi Yadav met Nitish and suggested that the latter lead an all-party delegation to meet the prime minister. RJD has been a proponent of the caste-based census, which was last carried out in 1931. Fault lines have appeared in the NDA, with Nitish insisting that notwithstanding the Centre's decision, he is 'keeping all options open'. Other constituents of the NDA – VIP and HAM – also have thrown in their lot with JD(U).

Caste-based census is an emotive issue in Bihar. A political analyst said a proper caste-based headcount would help political parties championing the cause of OBCs to revisit their strategies. Currently, it is estimated that Yadavs account for 17% of the total population, followed by Kurmis (7.5%), Koiri (>4%). It is believed that the population of the OBCs has grown 10-fold in the past few decades.

NAMITA BAJPAI @Lucknow

He also praised the Yogi Adityanath government for proper implementation of central schemes in the state. "The way Pradhan Mantri Garib Kalyan Anna Yojana is being implemented in the state defines the new Uttar Pradesh," he added.

The Prime Minister also praised the state government for its fight against the pandemic.

"Uttar Pradesh has become the first state to administer over 5 crore population with vaccine doses. This shows how people belied the misconceptions about the 'Made in India' vaccine and took the shots," said PM Modi.

The prime minister also said the construction of the Ram Temple is in full swing. "Last year, on this day, Indians took the first genuine step towards the construction of a grand Ram temple in Ayodhya by performing bhoomi pujan and laying the foundation stone. Now the construction of the temple is going on in full swing and the dream of Indians is taking shape," he said.

Modi lashed out at the opposition for disrupting the parliament. "Few people are doing everything to stop the progress of this country. They are trying to stop Parliament, but people will not tolerate this," he said.

The Prime Ministers expressed faith that "130 crore population of this country will face every challenge and move forward despite all obstacles".

No one trusts BJP, we will win 400 seats: Akhilesh

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Lucknow

LAUNCHING a scathing attack on the ruling BJP in Uttar Pradesh, Samajwadi Party chief Akhilesh Yadav said it won't be surprising if his party wins 400 of 403 seats in next year's Assembly elections as people are angry and upset with the present government

He will cycle across all districts of the state, protesting the rise in fuel price, farm laws, and the law and order situation in the state.

Addressing the media at the start of his cycle yatra from the SP office in Lucknow, Akhilesh said the BJP is in a very bad situation and would find it difficult to find people willing to contest on its ticket as everybody is upset with the party.

"So far, we have been saying we will win more than 350 seats. Buy now it is clear that people are so upset with the government that it won't be surprising if we win more than 400 seats," Akhilesh said adding that the BJP has oppressed and harassed Brahmins, Dalits, and Muslims in the state during the last four years.

He reiterated his claim that the BJP-led government has done nothing of its own for the people, but have been taking credit for the work done by the previous governments.

"Even today the BJP leaders are inaugurating projects that were launched by the SP government. The BJP didn't work at all. In fact, they do not have any work culture," Akhilesh said.

Israel hits Lebanon with airstrikes in response to rockets

Army says jets struck launch sites from which rockets were fired, warns against 'further attempts to harm Israeli civilians and sovereignty'

TEL AVIV

ISRAEL on Thursday escalated its response to rocket attacks this week by launching rare airstrikes on Lebanon, the army said. It said that jets struck the launch sites from which rockets had been fired over the previous day, as well as an additional target used to attack Israel in the past. The IDF blamed the state of Lebanon for the shelling and warned against "further attempts to harm Israeli civilians and Israel's sovereignty".

The overnight airstrikes were a marked escalation at a politically sensitive time. Israel's new eight-party governing coalition is trying to keep peace under a fragile cease fire that ended an 11-day war with Hamas' militant rulers in Gaza in May. Several incidents leading up to this week's rocket fire from Lebanon have focused attention on Israel's northern border, and the United States swiftly condemned the attacks on Israel.

The Hezbollah-owned Al-Manar TV reported the strikes at around 2am, saying they hit an empty area in the Mahmoudiya Village in Marjayoun district.

Avichai Adraee, the Israeli army's Arabic-language spokesman, said the Lebanese government is responsible for what happens on its territories and warned against more attacks on Israel from south Lebanon.

Three rockets were fired from Lebanon into Israeli territory Wednesday and the army responded with sustained artillery fire, Israel's military said. The announcement came after sirens sounded in northern Israel warning of a possible rocket attack.

Two rockets landed inside Israeli territory, the army said.

Channel 12 reported that one rocket exploded in an open area and another was intercepted by Israel's defense system, known as the Iron Dome.

As per reports by Israeli media, the incoming rockets started fires near Kiryat Shmona, a community of about 20,000 people near the Lebanese border. AP

Ebrahim Raisi

Amid tensions, Iran's new prez sworn in

TEHRAN

THE prot'g' of Iran's supreme leader Ayatollah Ali Khamenei, Ebrahim Raisi, was sworn in the country's new president during a ceremony in parliament on Thursday, an inauguration that completes hard-liners' dominance of all branches of government in the Islamic Republic.

The former judiciary chief known for his distrust of the West takes the reins at a tense time. Iran's indirect talks with the US to salvage Tehran's landmark 2015 nuclear deal have stalled, as Washington maintains crippling sanctions on the country and regional hostilities simmer.

"The sanctions must be lifted," Raisi said. "We will support any diplomatic plan that supports this goal." He stressed his embrace of diplomacy to lift US sanctions and mend rifts with neighbors, a subtle reference to Sunni rival Saudi Arabia. But he also signaled that Iran seek to expand its power as a counterbalance to foes across the region.

Raisi, 60, a conservative cleric long cultivated by the supreme leader, won a landslide victory in an election that saw the lowest voter turnout in the nation's history. AP

German Greens criticised for cropping men out of picture

BERLIN

GERMANY's Green party has come under fire on social media for tweeting a photograph of its election candidates cropped in such a way as to remove all the men.

The party's local branch in Mitte district posted the all-women picture on Twitter with a caption that poked fun at photos of the rival center-right Union bloc which it said showed only 'old men.' It later emerged that three of the Greens' male candidates were cropped from the image to show only the women. All men belonged to ethnic minority groups.

Taylan Kurt, one of the male candidates cropped from the picture, dismissed the criticism of his party. "I'm a man and precisely because of that I want Germany to continue to be governed by a woman in future." Ario Mirzaie, a party spokesperson, said he was surprised by the controversy the picture generated. He said the cropping, which also removed him from the photo, was 'completely unproblematic'. "Women are at the center of Green politics," Mirzaie said.

The Greens describe themselves as a feminist party and have a rule that women must be placed first on its election lists. The requirement recently caused a problem when its regional branch in tiny Saarland state picked a man to lead its election list, prompting the party to re-run the process in favour of a woman. But state officials rejected the new list on technical grounds, meaning the party likely won't be on the ballot in Saarland for Germany's September 26 poll. The decision was confirmed by federal election officials. AP

Despite Biden's promises, immigrant detentions soar

LOUISIANA

ALEXANDER Martinez says he fled from homophobia, government persecution and the notorious MS-13 gang in El Salvador only to run into abuse and harassment in America's immigration detention system.

Since crossing the border illegally in April, the 28-year-old has bounced between six different facilities in three states. He said he contracted Covid, faced racist taunts from guards and was harassed by fellow detainees for being gay. "I find myself emotionally unstable because I have suffered a lot in detention," Martinez said last week at Winn Correctional Center in Louisiana.

He's among a growing number of people in immigration detention centers nationwide, many of whom, like Martinez, have cleared their initial screening to seek asylum in the US.

The number of detainees has more than doubled since the end of February, to nearly 27,000 as of July 22, according to the most recent data from US Immigration and Customs Enforcement.

The rising detentions is a sore point for President Joe Biden's pro-immigration allies, who hoped he would reverse his predecessor's hardline approach. Biden campaigned on ending 'prolonged' detention and use of private prisons for immigration detention, which house the majority of those in ICE custody.

The number of detainees who have passed their initial asylum screening has leapt from around 1,700 in April to 3,400 in late July. AP

Centuries-old Vishnu statue recovered

Dhaka: A black stone statue of Lord Vishnu, believed to be more than 1,000 years old, has been recovered by police in Bangladesh from a teacher, said a media report. Police recovered the statue from Boro Goali village in Cumilla. The height of the statue is about 23 inches and its width is 9.5 inches. It weighs about 12kg. Nazrul Islam, officer-in-charge of Daudkandi Police Station, said a teacher named Abu Yusuf found the statue one-and-a-half months ago. "The unearthed statue is very valuable. It is possibly more than 1,000 years old. It should be immediately handed over to Mainamati museum for proper preservation," said Ataur Rahman, former regional director of Chattogram divisional archaeology department. PTI

Relentless delta variant challenges China's costly lockdown strategy

BEIJING

THE delta variant is challenging China's costly strategy of isolating cities, prompting warnings that Chinese leaders who were confident they could keep Covid out need a less disruptive approach.

As the highly contagious variant pushes leaders in the United States, Australia and elsewhere to renew curbs, President Xi Jinping's government is fighting the most serious outbreak since last year's peak in Wuhan. The ruling Communist Party is reviving tactics that shut down China: Access to a city of 1.5 million people has been cut off, flights canceled, and mass testing ordered in some areas.

That 'zero tolerance' strategy of quarantining every case and trying to block new infections from abroad helped contain last year's outbreak and has kept China largely virus-free. But its impact on work and life for millions of people is prompting warnings that China needs to learn to control the virus without repeatedly shutting down the economy and society.

Zhang Wenhong, a Shanghai doctor who became prominent during the Wuhan outbreak, suggested in a social media post that China's strategy could change. "We will definitely learn more from the ongoing outbreak," he said, calling it a stress test for the nation. "The world needs to learn how to coexist with this virus," wrote Zhang, who has three million followers on the widely used Sina Weibo platform.

China's controls will be tested when thousands of athletes, reporters and others arrive for the Winter Olympics in Beijing in February. And the ruling party faces a politically sensitive change of leadership in late 2022, for which leaders want upbeat economic conditions.

Last year, China shut down much of the world's second-biggest economy and cut off almost all access to cities with a total of 60 million people - tactics imitated on a smaller scale by governments from Asia to the Americas.

The 1,142 infections reported since mid-July, many linked to Nanjing, are modest compared with tens of thousands of new daily infections in India or the US. But they jolted leaders in China, which hasn't recorded a fatality since early February. The outbreak poses challenges to the country's hard-won epidemic battle. AP

Pakistan has other 'options', Khan's aide tells US

ISLAMABAD

UPSET over US President Joe Biden's reluctance to telephonically contact Prime Minister Imran Khan, Pakistan's National Security Adviser Moeed Yusuf has said Islamabad has other 'options' if the American leader continues to ignore the country's leadership. "The US president hasn't spoken to the prime minister of such an important country who the US itself says is make-or-break in some cases, in some ways, in Afghanistan — we struggle to understand the signal, right?" Yusuf said in an interview.

"We've been told every time that (the phone call) will happen, it's technical reasons or whatever. But frankly, people don't believe it," he said. "If a phone call is a concession, if a security relationship is a concession, Pakistan has options," he added, refusing to elaborate.

The US State Department, however, has assured Islamabad that Washington recognises Pakistan's vital role in restoring peace in Afghanistan and wants Islamabad to play that role. Pakistan has much to gain and will continue to have a critical role, and be well-positioned in supporting the outcome in Afghanistan," said US State Department spokesperson Ned Price.

"We'll continue to work and to communicate closely with our Pakistani partners on this," he added. PTI

Facebook shuts down NYU academics' research on political ads

NEW YORK

FACEBOOK has shut down the personal accounts of a pair of New York University (NYU) researchers and shuttered their investigation into misinformation spread through political ads on the social network.

Facebook says the researchers violated its terms of service and were involved in unauthorised data collection from its massive network. The academics, however, say the company is attempting to exert control on research that paints it in a negative light.

The NYU researchers with the Ad Observatory Project had for several years been looking into Facebook's Ad Library, where searches can be done on advertisements running across Facebook's products. The access was used to "uncover systemic flaws in the Facebook Ad Library, to identify misinformation in political ads, including many sowing distrust in our election system, and to study Facebook's apparent amplification of partisan misinformation," said Laura Edelson, the lead researcher behind NYU Cybersecurity for Democracy, in a statement. Facebook's action against the NYU project also cut off other researchers and journalists who got access to Facebook data through the project, Edelson said.

The researchers offered Facebook users a web browser plug-in tool that let them volunteer their data showing how the social network targets political ads. But Facebook said the browser extension was programmed to evade its detection systems and vacuum up user data, creating privacy concerns.

In a blog post late Tuesday, Facebook said it takes "unauthorised data scraping seriously, and when we find instances of scraping we investigate and take action to protect our platform."

Facebook sent a cease-and-desist letter to Edelson and another researcher, Damon McCoy, in October but didn't shut down their accounts until Tuesday, hours after Edelson informed the platform that she and McCoy were studying the spread of disinformation on the platform about the attack on the US Capitol, researchers said.

Mike Clark, Facebook product management director, wrote in the blog post that the Menlo Park, California, company welcomes research that holds it accountable but doesn't compromise the security of the platform or users' privacy. "While the Ad Observatory project may be well-intentioned, the ongoing and continued violations of protections against scraping cannot be ignored and should be remediated," he wrote. AP

Retro tax withdrawal: No major cost to exchequer

Total refund could be around ₹8,000 cr in 17 cases, say govt officials

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @New Delhi

WOULD the government's move to withdraw retrospective tax on capital gains arising out indirect transfer of assets located in India before May 2012 have an adverse impact on the government exchequer?

Sources from the finance ministry as well tax department say that the total refund amount could be around ₹8,000 crore as tax demands were raised in only 17 cases — with maximum demand raised from Vodafone and Cairn energy. While Vodafone had not paid any taxes against the demand raised, Cairn Energy had paid around ₹7,000 crore against tax demand of over ₹12,500 crore.

"There will be no major cost to exchequer and it will be well below ₹9,000 crore, however this will fix this issue which has been lingering for some time. This is more about the confidence of investors," a senior official from the finance ministry said.

According to the memorandum of the Bill (presented in Parliament), income-tax demand had been raised in seventeen cases. In two cases assessments are pending due to stay granted by the High Court. Out of the said seventeen cases, arbitration under the Bilateral Investment Protection Treaty with the UK and Netherlands had been invoked in four cases. In two cases, the Arbitration Tribunal ruled in favour of taxpayers.

The Bill clearly says that only the tax amount paid would be refunded and no interest would be paid on that amount. It also says that any settlement would be subject to conditions that the affected parties withdraw pending litigation and furnish undertakings to the effect that no claim for cost, damages, interest, etc, would be filed.

Harsh Bhuta, Partner at Bhuta Shah & Co LLP, says that "while companies such as Vodafone and Cairn will heave a sigh of relief after years of protracted litigation, the only dampener being that no interest is to be paid on such tax refunds".

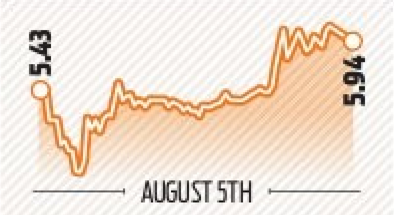
Stock market sees yo-yo show of VIL

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @Chennai

FACED with looming payouts and cash crunch, beleaguered telecom service provider Vodafone Idea (VIL) saw its stock prices plunge as much as 24% on the stock market on Thursday. On Wednesday, the Indian promoter of the company — KM Birla — had stepped down as non-executive chairman and director of VIL.

While VIL stock dived as markets opened on Thursday, it recovered much of these losses in the afternoon, eventually closing the day's trading down by 1.49% at ₹5.94. Over the past three sessions, the stock has lost as much as 28%.

HIGHS AND LOWS



The volatility in VIL is not surprising considering the financial straits the company finds itself in. It has a debt of ₹1.8 lakh crore and cash and cash equivalents of just ₹350 crore as of the end of March. Both promoters — Vodafone Plc and Birla's Aditya Birla Group — have ruled out further capital infusions even though fundraising plans have not come to fruition. The company, however, has to meet as much as ₹23,000 crore in various payments between December this year and April 2022.

In fact, before stepping down as non-executive chairman, Birla had written to Cabinet Secretary Rajiv Gauba offering his stake in VIL to the government. "It has become very difficult for Vodafone Idea to service its huge net debt," said Piyush Pandey, Lead Analyst-Institutional Equities, Yes Securities.

"Now, promoters have refused to infuse additional equity into the company. With KM Birla stepping down from the Chairman post and the current state of company's financials, it would be difficult to raise money from other institutional investors. The options are quite limited for the company and a takeover by the government is likely scenario to keep it as going concern entity," he added.

Domestis air passenger traffic jumps 57% as travel curbs ebb

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @New Delhi

AMID falling Covid-19 cases from second wave peak and easing of travel restrictions by state governments, domestic passenger traffic registered a sequential growth of 56-57% at around 48-49 lakh in July 2021, compared to 31.1 lakh in June 2021, data released by ratings agency ICRA showed.

On an annual basis, traffic grew by 132% and the airlines' capacity deployment for July 2021 was around 90% higher than July 2020 (47,200 departures in July 2021, against 24,770 departures in July 2020). On a sequential basis, the number of departures in July 2021 was higher by 49%.

Kinjal Shah, Vice President & Co-Group Head, ICRA, said: "For July 2021, the average daily departures were at 1,500, significantly higher than the average daily departures of 800 in July 2020, and higher than 1,100 in June 2021, though it remains at lower than 2,000 in April 2021. The average number of passengers per flight during July 2021 was 104, against an average of 98 passengers per flight in June 2021." She added that though the recovery continued in July 2021, there is continued stress on demand, driven largely by the second wave of Covid, limiting travel to only necessary travel, while leisure and business travel have been curtailed.

Data released by the Ministery of Civil Aviation shows that daily traffic of departing passengers has been topping 2-lakh mark since the beginning of August. On August 1, daily passenger traffic stood at 2.70 lakh while on August 5 it came down to 2.06 lakh. With traffic now hovering at around 60-65% of pre-Covid level, there is a call from the industry to remove the capacity and fare cap.

"The recovery has been significantly impacted by the regulation (fare caps and capacity cap) that has been put in place," Willie Walsh, director general of global airlines body IATA, had said last week. He added, "The demand in India is way in excess to the capacity that is in the market at the moment... If these capacity constraints were removed, without question, there would be significantly more demand for flights that are operating in India."

The government had permitted increasing the capacity deployment on domestic routes gradually from 33%, with effect from May 25, 2020, to 80%, with effect from December 03, 2020. However, it reduced the permissible capacity deployment to 50% of pre-Covid levels with effect from June 01, 2021 due to the resurgence of the second wave of the pandemic. Currently, the permitted capacity is kept at 65%.

Why Flipkart faces show-cause notice and $1.35-bn fine from ED?

BISMAH MALIK @Bengaluru

E-COMMERCE biggies in India are facing the regulatory heat amidst huge jump in revenues, profits with Covid proving to be a boon. The Enforcement Directorate has served a show-cause notice to Walmart-owned Flipkart, its co-founders, Sachin Bansal and Binny Bansal, and an investor, Tiger Global, warning them of slapping with a $1.35-billion fine due to violations of the Foreign Direct Investment Act and Foreign Exchange Management rules.

The notice comes after the investigating agency initiated a probe into Amazon's business model earlier this year for violation of the country's foreign investment rules. A Flipkart spokesperson told this publication that the company is in compliance with Indian laws and regulations, including FDI regulations. "We will cooperate with the authorities as they look at this issue pertaining to the period 2009-2015 as per their notice," the company spokesperson said.

Sources said that the ED notice pertains to a seller entity, WS Retail, which was owned by Sachin Bansal and Binny Bansal, incorporated in 2009 in Bengaluru . WS Retail was reportedly driving more than 60% of the sales on the platform, which was found in violation of the country's 2016 FDI rules.

Even as Flipkart announced that it has severed all the ties with WS Retail, sellers have alleged that the e-tailer continues to work with the entity.

A cursory look on Flipkart platform revealed that WS retails has been delisted, however, the company has common board of directors with other sister firms who sell on Flipkart, Myntra marketplaces.

Traders' bodies like Confederation of All India Traders (CAIT) and All India Online Vendors Association have accused Flipkart of re-branding some seller firms, where its former executives have been appointed as board of directors.

"Companies like WS retail on Flipkart, Cloudtail and Appario on Amazon are currently driving more than 80% of the sales. We have written to the law agencies as well as the union ministry. Although Sachin Bansal, Binny Bansal sold the shares of WS retail, Flipkart still has stakes in the firm which is in violation of the laws. We also demand a similar notice to be served to Amazon," said Praveen Khandelwal, General Secretary, CAIT.

CORPORATE India has witnessed an 8% spike in the number of job opportunities in second quarter of the calendar year 2021 compared to the January-March period.

The growth was led by hiring in the technology function (up 38%). Many companies have capitalised on the availability of Indian techies looking to return to India from abroad due to the Covid-19 pandemic, according to the Mic*hael Page India Talent Trends 2021 rep*ort.

The global recruitment consultancy reports said that hiring had started rising at the beginning of the year, just before the second wave of Covid-19 restricted recruitment activities across key disciplines. However, Q2 of 2021 still saw a growth in opportunities. The sector which saw maximum impact in hiring was property & construction with a dip of 20% in job opportunities. "There has been a marginal increase in the sentiments of the candidates who are looking to change jobs in Q2 2021, showcasing a sense of confidence for the hiring market. H1 2021 has seen disciplines like consumer tech, technology and fintech lead hiring activities," said Nicolas Dumoulin, Managing Director, Michael Page India.

Govt not to ban Adani Group from airport biddings

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ New Delhi

AVIATION Minister Jyotiraditya Scindia in a written reply to Lok Sabha said that the government does not proposes to blacklist Adani Group from future airport biddings.

Replying to a question submitted by Trinamool Congress MP Mahua Moitra that read- "whether it is proposed to blacklist Adani Entities from future bids and if so, the details there of", Scindia replied, "No, Sir".

Mahua, who has been very vocal about foreign funds invested in different Adani Group Companies and alleges wrongdoings, alsoasked the government about the delay in taking over of the airports by Adani, loss to Airport Authority of India (AAI) because of the delay and protection of personal data.

Scindia told the Lok Sabha that the government has granted Adani Group a three-month extension to take over airports at Jaipur, Guwahati and Thiruvananthapuram. The initial deadline for taking these airports under Public Private Partnership (PPP) model was July. This means, handing over of these airports to Adani needs to completed by September.

The Adani Group had sought six months additional time, till December 2021, from the state-owned AAI to take over the airports citing force majeure events due to pandemic.

Scindia also informed that AAI continue to receive revenues from the airports till they are handed over to the Adani Group. "The revenue from the remaining three airports viz. Guwahati, Jaipur and Thiruvananthapuram will continue to be received by AAI till the handing over of these airports to the concessionaire (Adani Group)," he stated.

Higher revenues drive REC profits up 23% to ₹2,269 cr in April-June period

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ New Delhi

POWER sector financier REC Ltd recorded a nearly 23% increase in its consolidated net profit for the quarter ended June 2021 (Q1FY21) at ₹2,268.66 crore.

According to the the stock exchange filings, the profit was driven primarily by higher revenues during the quarter compared to the previous year. In Q1 of the previous year, REC's consolidated net profit had stood at ₹1,845.30 crore.

The company's filings also showed that following the Union government's relief package for power distribution companies (discom) announced last summer, it has already sanctioned and disbursed ₹67,838 crore and ₹41,177 crore, respectively.

Following the large scale impact of the pandemic on discom dues last year, the Union government had announced a ₹1.35 lakh crore liquidity injection to discoms in the form of state government-guaranteed loans through sector financiers REC and PFC Ltd. The programme has helped discoms sharply reduce overdues that had risen to over ₹1.3 lakh crore in the second half of last year to around ₹67,000 crore as of May 2021.

Meanwhile, REC's total income during April-June rose to ₹9,639.98 crore from ₹8,136.37 crore a year ago.

The company's board of directors has also approved an interim dividend of ₹2 per share for financial year 2021-22, and a final dividend of ₹1.71 per share for 2020-21, subject to shareholders' approval. It has approved a fundraising of up to ₹85,000 crore, either in one or more tranches.

GAIL profit up 6-fold on higher sales, margins

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @New Delhi

COUNTRY'S largest natural gas company GAIL India on Thursday reported a six-fold year-on-year increase in its net profit for the first quarter ended June 2021 (Q1FY22), boosted by higher sales and better margins. The company recorded a net profit of ₹1,529.92 crore during the quarter, against ₹255.51 crore a year ago.

However, while profits surged on a year-on-year basis, they stood nearly 20% lower compared to the previous quarter ended March 2021. This sequential fall was primarily driven by the impact of the second Covid-19 wave, which was less severe than the initial outbreak last summer.

"The increase in the profits is mainly attributable to better physical performance in natural gas marketing and transmission, improved margins in gas marketing due to favourable market conditions and better price realisation in petrochemicals and liquid hydrocarbons," the company said.

"The volume growth is due to the normalcy of the business activities as against nationwide lockdown during Q1 FY21," it added.

TAYLOR-MADE VICTORY

The awakening

State of euphoria after decades of toil as India men's hockey team pulls off big victory against Germany to win Olympic medal after 41 years

SWAROOP SWAMINATHAN
@Chennai

14980 days. 492 months. 41 years. One of the longest and most infamous droughts in the 125-year-old history of the Olympics is finally over. Consigned to the dustbin. The men's hockey team finally erased that unwanted record with a soul-stirring, heart-stopping, finger-nail chewing 5-4 win over Germany for the bronze medal match at the Oi Hockey Stadium on Thursday.

In the end, the golden moment in the third-place match was reserved for the one genuinely world-class player this team has had throughout a rollicking nine-year journey from finishing last in London to medalling in Tokyo. PR Sreejesh was asked to step up for one final time to realise a dream while vast swathes of the hockey loving public collectively forgot to breathe.

With 6.8 seconds on the clock and immortality up for grabs, Sreejesh was front and centre again. A Germany penalty corner, their 11th of an often chaotic, high-energy clash that had already messed with the heart-strings, was readying its final offering. The injection was good, the halt was ideal and the arc of the drag-flicker was perfect. It was travelling and just to Sreejesh's right. He saw it like a football and swatted it away before letting out a primal roar that would have been heard all across India. Soon, the players had just realised what had happened. Some cried, others hugged, a few ran to nowhere... all of them wanted to savour the moment. Rightly so.

The last time India medalled in the sport, Germany had two names. West and East. That's how long this team, and the ones that came before, have had to wait. When coach Graham Reid accepted this job in 2019, he didn't promise that he would end it. What he promised was 'to take Indian hockey where it belonged'. This bronze may not match the eight gold but it will surely form part of all nostalgia going forward. At some level, it even mirrored the disorderly, frenzied and the disorganised nature of Indian hockey over the last four decades. Germany led 1-0, then 3-1, then India led 5-3 before winning 5-4. Following a goalmouth scramble in the second minute, Timur Oruz managed to toe-poke Germany in front. Simranjeet Singh equalised two minutes into the second quarter but the opposition was doing all the running.

Employing the press, they were all over India. After the match, Reid opined that they were asleep at the start. They were asleep even in the second quarter when Germany scored two in less than 70 seconds. That's when they regathered, refocussed and launched a comeback that will go down in hockey lore.

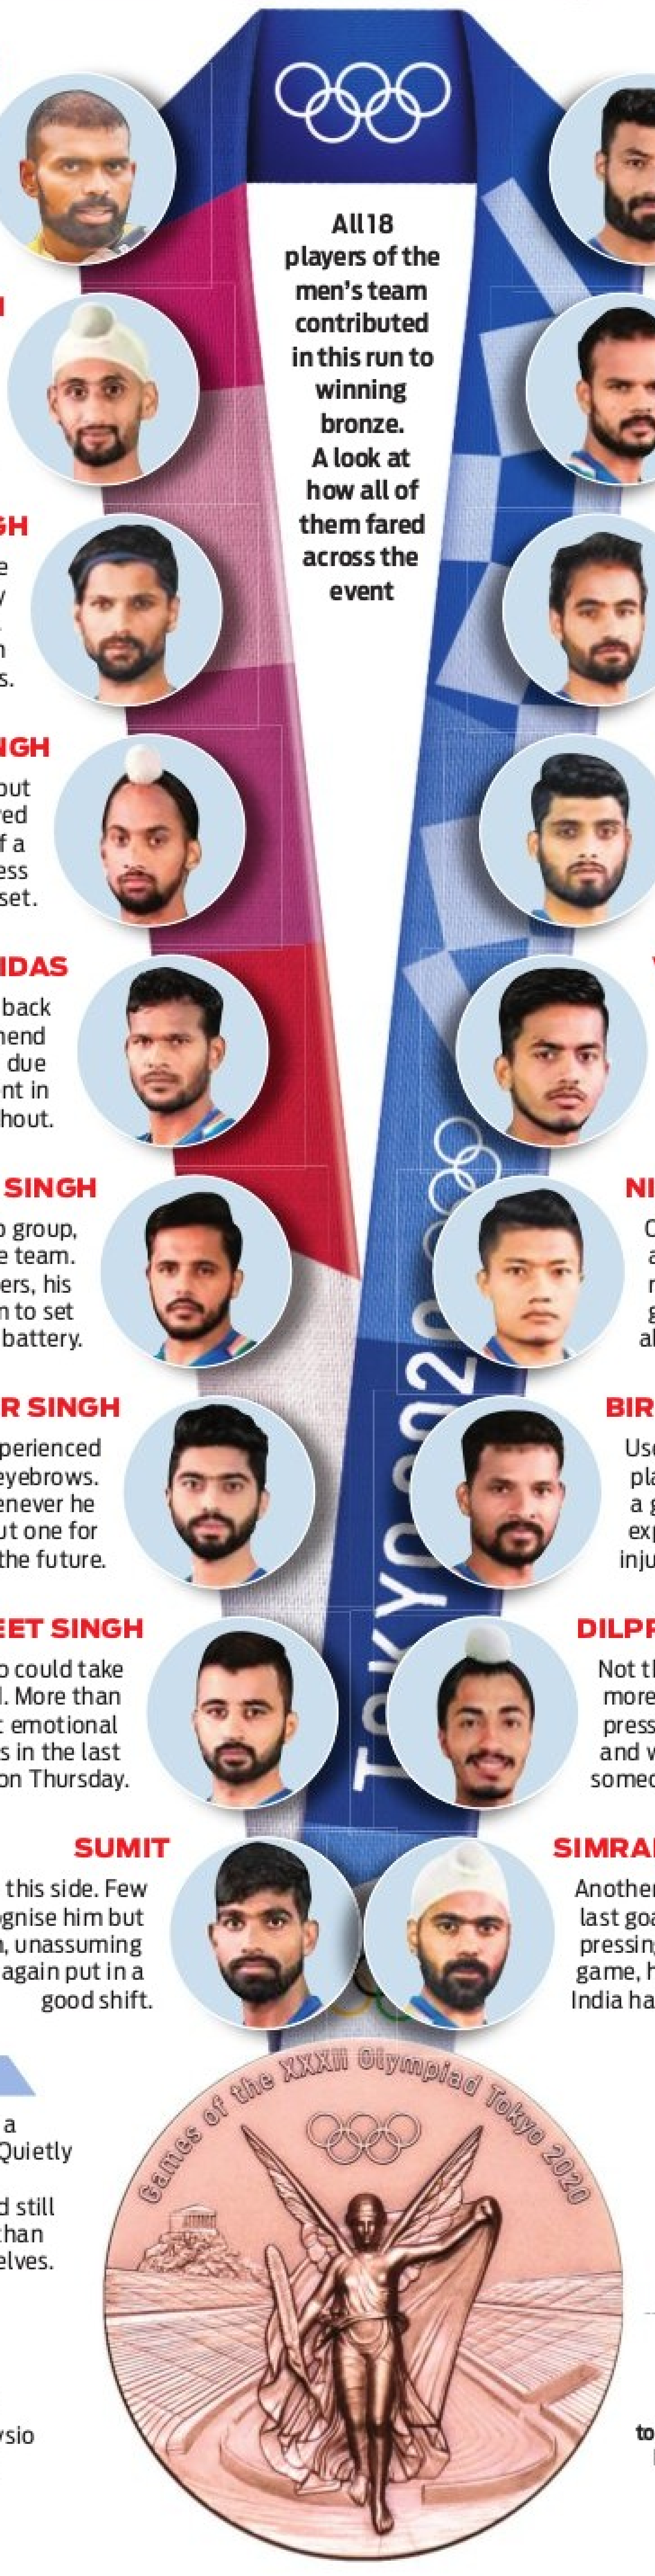
They scored four goals in eight barely believable, history-making minutes with a halftime break sandwiched in between. Strikes from Hardik Singh (field goal after a penalty corner), Harmanpreet Singh (penalty corner), Rupinder Pal Singh (stroke) and Simranjeet (field goal) turned the match on its head. The celebrations told its own story. In the dugout, Reid pumped his fists. The others next to him went wild too. It was justified too: this was the closest India had been to an Olympic medal in several generations. However many times you watch the replays, it's hard to make sense of the scale of the comeback. But it wasn't surprising because this team has staged comebacks from similar situations a few times under Reid. It was one of their focus areas over the last few years and it paid off.

Mandeep Singh had a chance to round the keeper for a 6-3 lead but missed it. At the other end, Germany launched an almighty counterattack on the Indian goal. All that pressure ultimately paid off after they scored a goal from a corner. They had the opportunity to level the match with 6.8 seconds remaining.

But it finished with one of the most familiar sights in a match involving the men's team: the ball bouncing off Sreejesh's frame to safety. The hooter went soon after, signalling the outburst of emotions never before seen by an Indian hockey team on the astroturf before. The last time they shed tears of joy, it was on grass.

14980 days to be exact.

MEDAL OF HONOUR



All18 players of the men's team contributed in this run to winning bronze. A look at how all of them fared across the event

PR SREEJESH

He wouldn't have had it any other way. With 6.8 seconds to go, he pulled off a high pressure save from a penalty corner to finally confirm victory. Has been the rock this tournament.

MANDEEP SINGH

He has had a big role to play whenever India have tasted some success in recent years. Puts in a tireless shift, that's why coaches have always preferred to have him.

RUPINDER PAL SINGH

India's defensive unit could have been better — the no of penalty corners conceded is an indication. Showed his worth with both experience as well as a few PCs.

HARDIK SINGH

Another player with a few edges but he can be invested in. Showed presence of mind to score off a rebound against Germany. His tireless running will be an asset.

AMIT ROHIDAS

An unsung hero. When he goes back home, he will finally be able to mend the aches he must have picked up due to being the first rusher. Was decent in his role as defender throughout.

HARMANPREET SINGH

Is now part of the leadership group, showing his growing stature in the team. Led the team in penalty corners, his success from there allows the team to set up the double battery.

SHAMSHER SINGH

His selection over more experienced campaigners raised a lot of eyebrows. Played an important role whenever he was rotated in all matches but one for the future.

MANPREET SINGH

For long identified as the man who could take the sport where it once belonged. More than anything else, he's free of that emotional baggage now. Did make a few errors in the last 2 games but was largely faultless on Thursday.

SUMIT

Another of those unsung heroes in this side. Few fans wouldn't even be able to recognise him but quietly does his work in a calm, unassuming manner. A proper workhorse, and again put in a good shift.

SURENDER KUMAR

You can practically use the same words that were described for Sumit. Has shown tremendous courage to recover from a Covid complication. Extremely reliable.

LALIT UPADHYAY

Didn't play in all matches but there is something about his stick work and running that endears him to coaches. His versatility is a good asset.

GURJANT SINGH

A glorious throwback in that he just runs to love with the ball down the right flank. Has that invaluable ability to create chaos in the opposition third.

VARUN KUMAR

Played in the last five matches and is developing into a good penalty corner specialist. Could eventually replace Rupinder Pal Singh in the team but those rough edges need polishing.

VIVEK SAGAR PRASAD

Marked for greatness even when he was playing age group hockey. Had won a silver at the Youth Olympics. Looked to create constant openings from the middle of the park.

NILAKANTA SHARMA

One of the heartbeats of this side, he was at the heart of most moves that India made in this tournament. Scored the odd goal too. Given that he is 26, he is just about reaching his peak.

BIRENDRA LAKRA

Used sparingly by the management (has played only one of the last five games) but a good player to have around because of his experience. Missed 2016 Olympics through injury, so this will be doubly sweet.

DILPREET SINGH

Not the most experienced player but definitely more than made it up with his off the ball pressing and stick work. There is more to come and with a World Cup in the horizon, he's someone India can trust.

SIMRANJEET SINGH

Another clutch performance with the first and last goals. Very important player because of his pressing. If he can develop the rough edges in his game, he can become the complete forward India have been craving.

GRAHAM REID, COACH

Surely on his way to a contract extension. Quietly inspired the team, reminding they could still win a medal rather than feel sorry for themselves.

WHAT THEY SAID

People were forgetting hockey in India. They loved hockey, but they stopped hoping that we can win. But we won today. They can expect more from us in the future. Keep believing in us.

Manpreet Singh, India captain

We dared to dream. The team first mentality and not feeling sorry about yourself worked. The players did a great job of doing this together especially in leaving the semifinal loss behind and focus on the bronze medal match.

Glad that the boys proved my prediction to be right

EXPERT VOICE

V BASKARAN

I am happy and proud that our hockey team has won a bronze medal at the Tokyo Olympics, our first medal in 41 years. Having won an Olympic medal at Moscow in 1980, I know pretty well the kind of hard work and sacrifice required to bag an Olympic medal. I am sure the boys will be enjoying every moment of their unique feat. It was a well-deserved win.

Even before the start of the Tokyo Games, I was confident that our boys will have a podium finish.

What made me sound confident was the fact that unlike in the past, our coach Graham Reid had preferred young legs for the Tokyo campaign. It has worked wonders. My observation proved to be right and I am happy for the boys. Reid's method of coaching and style of play helped our boys bag the bronze. It is not easy to play a match for the bronze medal after losing the semifinal. Mentally and physically, the players would have been drained.

During the bronze medal match, it was evident how our boys had regained composure and played with lot of determination to beat Germany 5-4.

Reid, as an Australian, knows a lot about speed and strength. So he prepared the team to play an aggressive brand of hockey all the time. Moreover, the training that the team had for nearly nine months worked well. The reason for our win against Germany was courage, attitude and willingness to fight back. Our PC conversion (60 percent) was good, there were excellent field goals and good defending at penalty corners was also there. Overall, it was a splendid performance.

Many players from this young team could form the nucleus for our country in the coming years.

Midfielders like Nilakanta Sharma, Vivek Sagar and Hardik Singh and forwards like Gurjant Singh and Simranjeet Singh were the find of the Olympics. On the whole, PR Sreejesh's performance was very good. He was involved in some marvellous saves. I think this is his best performance to date. After this good show, Reid and all his support staff should continue for the betterment of Indian hockey. This victory should prompt all the schools and colleges to make their students start playing hockey.

OPPONENT SIMULATION TO PLAYING IN TOKYO TIME, INDIA REID GAME

SWAROOP SWAMINATHAN @ Chennai

WHEN it became apparent that the men's hockey side wouldn't be able to travel outside for valuable match practice, the team management came up with a novel idea. Get the juniors to play against the senior team at the Sports Authority of India (SAI) campus in Bengaluru. These matches, though, weren't just going to be practice matches. The juniors would be aping the style and tactics of the opposition teams that India would face in Japan.

For example, the juniors would be Belgium one day. Australia the next. They also played as Japan, Belgium, Great Britain, New Zealand and Germany. All these matches were, as you would expect from an elite team, played according to Tokyo time. So a few matches began at 7.00 AM inside the SAI campus (10.30am Japan time), with players completing all required pre-match formalities right to their jerseys.

It's these little tweaks that India did over the last 15 months that helped them medal in Tokyo.

The attention to detail wasn't just limited to the field. The team management and coach Graham Reid also did something that the predecessors failed to do. Every Monday for the last few months, they got together to select their 'Olympic 16'. After picking, they would compare notes to see which of the players made all their squads. A majority of them looked towards youth, to the likes of Shamsher Singh, Hardik Singh and Dilpreet Singh.

The management also encouraged the team to bond while in lockdown. They played games over Zoom, exchanged notes and found out the stories behind each of their teammates. They did go back home a few times during lockdown but, by and large, they were confined to the campus. It helped them understand their teammates better.

Some understanding was already there because a majority of this squad had already played and won the Junior World Cup in Lucknow in 2016. Eight of the 19, including the three reserves, had won five years ago. Considering they had all transitioned to the core probables with relative ease, they knew what they were capable of.w

On a baking hot day in Tokyo, they showed it.

HAPPY FAMILY

The near and dear ones of the heroes were over the moon as well. This newspaper got in touch with some of them.

Manjit Kaur
Manpreet's mom

It is a gold medal for us and not a bronze. I used to discourage him to play hockey during his childhood. But his coach would always tell me that my son will be an international player.

All the 10-year-old wanted to do then (14 years ago) was play hockey. Every six months hewas told to go back to Pilibhit in UP to meet his parents but his heart always remained here.

Sukhwinder Kaur
Rupinder's mom

I was disappointed (after semifinal setback against Belgium). Now, they have won and I'm relieved. My prayers have been answered.

Baldev Singh
Gurjant's dad

We are very happy as the Indian team has won. There should be a playground in the village where youth can play sports. We hope that the team can win gold next time.

Balwinder Singh
Dilpreet's dad

We are extremely excited. This (medal) was long overdue. When I was in the Army, I myself was a hockey player at the national level.

Shamsher's dad

We are so excited, it is celebration time. Everyone is coming and ladoos are being distributed and his friends and family have been dancing.

Sarbjit Singh
Harman's dad

This feat has come after 41 years we should celebrate it and not get disheartened that we could not win a gold medal. For us, a bronze medal is like a gold medal.

Sumit's brother

My brother promised my mother, who died six months ago, that he will win a medal in Olympics. He has made a lot of sacrifices. He could not even come for his brother's marriage. He rarely eats from outside.

Surender's mom

I'm so happy that they won today, I'm so excited. I was not as happy even during my marriage. I was so nervous (during the match), I did not watch it and was sitting outside.

TRACK RECORDS

If short distance runs are all about sudden bursts of power and delivering a force four to five times the athlete's body weight to the ground, then long-distance runs are a game of supply and demand that minimises energy requirement. Scandinavian runners dominated the 5,000 and 10,000 metres events at the Olympics in the early 20th century, and the mantle is now worn by East Africans. The two track events have seen their records broken in recent years, partially thanks to technological advancements in running shoes. We take a look at the running times in gold medal events

Rupinder Pal Singh, India hockey player

I always had the regret that I could not win an Olympic medal. I used to wonder whether I would be able to see India at the Olympic podium again in hockey. Now with this historic win, I have no regrets.

A re-birth of Indian hockey: Sreejesh

MARTIN JOSEPH @ Kochi

AS the whole country watched on in anticipation as the Indian hockey team tried to taste Olympic glory again, time froze with five seconds left on the clock and the team's fate was in the hands of the goalkeeper PR Sreejesh.

With the score at 5-4, the German team, nearly equalised from a penalty corner. But even in those dying moments, when fatigue can set in, the 33-year-old showed remarkable reflexes and concentration to pull off a stunning save. While most of the players let out their emotions and broke into tears as India pulled off a triumph for the ages, Sreejesh, who has seen the highs and lows of Indian hockey for the past 15-odd years, had surprisingly remained calm throughout as he embraced his teammates.

"The first thing that came into my mind (after the win) was relief. I didn't cry. I was not overjoyed, even though I was happy that we got a medal. I was happy that the hard work that we put in the last one and a half years paid off. And I'm really happy for the youngsters. In the team, there are 10-12 youngsters and those who have a big career ahead. They can carry this legacy forward," said Sreejesh, during a Facebook live session organised by Sony Sports, the official broadcasters of the Games.

Sreejesh was one of the most talked about players on social media after the match and a photo of him sitting on top of the goalpost in a contemplative mood went viral. "It's a re-birth of hockey. We lived in the past for a long time," opined Sreejesh.

AMIT TOOK TWO DOZEN BODY BLOWS: SHIVENDRA

FIROZ MIRZA @ Chennai

AHEAD of the Olympics, Shivendra Singh, Indian men's hockey team coach, had termed the side as one of the medal contenders. And it came true on Thursday. Speaking on the historic triumph, the former India striker said the team learnt lessons following their heartbreaking semifinal loss to Belgium. We gave some easy access to Belgium in our D in the semifinal. A few easy fouls didn't help our cause either. So all these things were in our mind when we went back. We decided to avoid these mistakes and planned accordingly," he said. Talkinig about Amit Rohidas who rushes to defend PCs, "It's suicidal to run in front of a ball coming at such a high speed but Amit did that for us throughout the tournament. Defending the flick which comes like a bullet just with a stick needs guts. He has taken 20-25 blows during the Olympics. Two of them hit his abdomen straight forward."

WEIGHTY ISSUE FOR RAVI

Silver medallist may have to move up category if he wishes to compete in Paris Games

FIROZ MIRZA @ Chennai

SILVER is all that he could settle for. The scoreline read 4-7 against Ravi Dahiya in 57kg but the final was far more intense and close. Not the one to give up, Ravi toiled until the last second. The bout could have gone either way but world champ Zavur Uguev preferred brain over brawn to outwit the Indian. He quietly accumulated the points and defended with all his might.

The 23-year-old Haryana wrestler wasted no time after losing the final. He declared he would change the colour of the medal at the 2024 Paris Olympics. With age on his side, the Paris Olympics is very much possible. But what seems to be in doubt is the weight category he would chose to fight.

Ahead of the Games, the last event — Poland Open in June — he took part in, he competed in 61kg. Speaking on his decision then, he had told this daily, "Losing weight increases the risk of sustaining injury. Recovery also takes time so I competed in 61kg." He though didn't commit that he will move up the weight division after the Olympics. Satpal Singh, head of the Chhatrasal Stadium, where Ravi trains, agrees the move needs to be discussed with the wrestler once he returns from Tokyo.

"Moving up the next weight division needs to be discussed because he has to cut a lot of weight before the bout. It creates problems. Given that the weigh-in process happens on the day of competition, it makes recovery impossible. Let him come then we will discuss it with other coaches," said Satpal.

Another issue is that Bajrang Punia competes in the next weight category and a decision can be made only if Ravi's senior counterpart decides to change his division.

Kripashankar Patel, former India wrestler and coach of Railway Sports Promotion Board, asserted Ravi has to change the weight category soon if he intends to compete in the next Olympics. "My advice to him will be to move to higher weight category. It's very difficult to maintain weight in the same category for a long time. If you do that for a long time, you can end up damaging your internal organs. Besides, it will also put a cap on your strength as you cannot increase it after a certain point. Vinesh (Phogat) did that and Ravi should think about it. The transformation can happen gradually as he still has three years with him but he should do it," opined Patel.

Vinesh, Deepak miss out

No. 1 seed Vinesh Phogat made a shock quarterfinal exit, losing to Belarusian Vanesa Kaladzinskaya. As the day progressed, Vanesa lost her semifinal to China's Pang Qianyu bringing down curtains on Vinesh's campaign in Tokyo. The Haryana wrestler needed Vanesa to beat the Chinese to rejoin the 53kg competition through the repechage round and fight for bronze.

In the men's freestyle 86kg category, Deepak Punia conceded a take-down in the last few seconds of the play-off against San Marino's Myles Nazem Amine to miss out on the medal. Anshu Malik (57kg) also lost her repechage round.

Bajrang gets good draw

BAJRANG Punia (65kg) will meet Ernazar Akmataliev of Kyrgyzstan in his opening bout on Friday. Ernazar had punched a Tokyo ticket with a good show in the Asian Olympic Qualifier, but he is unlikely to trouble Bajrang.It is likely that if the Indian wins the first bout, he will meet Morteza Ghiasi Cheka of Iran in the quarterfinal. It might get tricky as the event progresses as Bajrang could meet Daulet Niyazbekov of Kazakhstan, a 2019 Worlds silver medallist, or Cuban Alejandro Enrique, a two-time medallist in the Worlds, or three-time world champ Haji Aliyev.

Middle-order collapse puts India in trouble again

VENKATA KRISHNA B @ Chennai

FOR 117 minutes on the morning of Day Two in Trent Bridge, KL Rahul and Rohit Sharma hardly put a foot-wrong. Respecting the conditions and showing discipline and restraint to play anything even remotely away from the body, with every passing delivery, they were building a platform, sans any sort of risk. On an overcast day, the English attack kept testing them, even tempting them at times, but shoulders were beginning to drop.

At the dressing room balcony, there were relaxed faces in the dressing room. The No 3 Cheteshwar Pujara was seated with his jumpers on. 97/0. The new ball was beginning to get old. The lunch would have tasted nice. It was then that with three balls to go for lunch, Ollie Robinson bowled a bounce to Rohit — a delivery England seldom tested the openers all morning. And immediately, his instincts took over. Out came the pull shot, which went straight to Sam Curran at backward square-leg.

97/1 at lunch. It was still a job very well done in these parts. But little did anyone knew what was coming. The middle-order, especially if put under pressure, has taken no time to wilt. Their No 3 has made notable contributions, but it has been 18 Tests since he scored a century, with his last dating back to Sydney 2019. Captain Virat Kohli's form may not be a concern, but the last time he reached three figures in any format was in November 2019. No 5, Ajinkya Rahane got a century in the Boxing Day Test, but he hasn't been able to induce confidence in the middle.

Ahead of the Test series, India pondered about rejigging their middle-order, but restrained for the time-being. However that they lacked confidence in the middle-order clearly showed, when they opted to for Ravindra Jadeja, fully expecting his skills with the bat will needed more than Ravichandran Ashwin's off-spin. And it showed why.

As play resumed after lunch on overcast conditions, England had their tails up. The old-ball was now beginning to talk and such with all the noise of intent around, Pujara looked every bit uncharacteristic in his 16-ball stay before James Anderson found his outside edge. 104/2. In came Kohli, only for Anderson to double-guess him — Kohli was expecting the inswinger — and send a delivery that held his line and took his edge to go level with Anil Kumble's tally of 619 wickets. 104/3.

By the time Rahane's nervous stay ended with a run-out, the middle-order had undone all the hardwork done by the openers in the first session. More than how they did, the bigger worry would be how they let it happen again. They have found a pattern in such collapses and have tried to adjust it. But it keeps occuring across conditions and on all sort of pitches.

HOME SWEET HOME

At Chhatrasal, excitement gives way to silence

AYANTAN CHOWDHURY @ New Delhi

As soon as Ravi Kumar Dahiya's image popped up on the small television screen fitted inside New Delhi's Chhatrasal Stadium wrestling hall, a deafening roar went up. Whistles, and shouts of "Jay Bajrangbali", "Bharat Mata ki Jai" echoed across the hall.

As Chhatrasal's very own walked on to the mat, the sound which emanated from the two-hundred odd young wrestlers and a handful of coaches inside the hall was akin to the roar made by adoring fans during a Rajinikanth movie premier! And it seemed like that as well with Dhols playing in the background while flower petals were being showered on everyone present inside the hall.

Evening practice was cancelled and all the kids rushed inside to watch. Despite their tender age, they kept shouting instructions.

Ravi Dahiya's room at Chhatrasal Stadium | PARVEEN NEGI

But in the end it was not meant to be as the grappler from Nahri in Haryana fell short of a historic gold. Pin drop silence prevailed and very soon the hall was empty. It seemed as if everyone had forgotten that the 23-year-old had become the third from the iconic stadium to stand on the coveted Olympics podium. Coach Jaiveer Dahiya explained the rationale behind everyone's reaction. "We all were certain about gold. He is the best wrestler in the weight category and we know his strengths. He had even said prior to his departure that he would be bringing the gold medal back with him. We know he is not satisfied and now he will work even harder. But we are proud. An Olympic silver is a huge deal and we are all proud of our Ravi," the coach said as the dismay gave way to a beaming smile.

One glimpse inside the newly crowned Olympic silver medallist's room and one can spot a big picture of the Tokyo gold medal printed on an A4 size paper sheet and the national flag. It was finally time for the medal ceremony and that was the signal for the party at Chhatrasal to finally kick-off. A fair few kilos of Boondi and Ghevar was ordered as all the kids and coaches broke into an impromptu jig. Loudspeakers on full volume blared hit Punjabi tracks as everyone got down to showing off their dance moves.

Messi and Barcelona part ways

AFP @ Barcelona

LIONEL Messi will end his 20-year career with Barcelona after the Argentine superstar failed to reach agreement on a new deal with the club, the Spanish giants announced on Thursday.

"Although an agreement has been reached between FC Barcelona and Leo Messi it cannot be formalised due to economic and structural obstacles," said a statement from the club.

"Faced with this situation, Lionel Messi will not remain linked to Barcelona. Both sides deeply regret that the wishes of both the player and the club cannot come true." Messi made his first senior appearance in 2004.
